

CROWE AND MAYOR CONFER

THOMPSON TO TELL RESULTS OF "CHAT" LATER

City Council Takes Up Police Clash.

After nearly two weeks of bitter controversy, during which State's Attorney Thompson demanded that Mayor Thompson repudiate acts of Chief of Police Fitzmorris and charged in a public statement that the mayor had aligned himself on the side of open and protected vice and gambling in Chicago, Mayor Thompson and Mr. Crowe met last night in a two hour conference.

In spite of the conference between Mr. Crowe and the mayor, deputies from the state's attorney's office, under direction of Lawrence Cuneo, secretary to Mr. Crowe, swooped down on the underworld again last night, and raided several gambling and disorderly houses. Nine places on the south and west sides were raided, and nine girls and three men being arrested.

The meeting between the mayor and Mr. Crowe occurred on neutral territory—the Congress hotel, where the mayor has a suite reserved for conferences with his political allies. At the close of the parley the situation was described as unchanged.

"Have a Little Chat."

"I had a little chat with the state's attorney," Mayor Thompson said. "I am not yet ready to discuss it. I will embody anything I have to say in a statement which I intend to issue later in the week."

It was deemed probable the statement will be issued today or early tomorrow, as the mayor leaves tomorrow night for a political confab with his allies at West Baden.

To clear the way for the conference Mayor Thompson mustered his strength on two city hall battles yesterday, thus staying off a renewal of open hostilities between his administration and Mr. Crowe and giving time for the peace negotiations, which, last week, he declared would not begin until both Chief Fitzmorris and Mr. Crowe "cooled down a bit."

"It looks brighter," the mayor said when he learned that the case of Sgt. Thomas O'Malley before the police trial board had been continued until Nov. 23, although Mr. Crowe was on hand ready to defend O'Malley against the charges of Chief Fitzmorris.

But the mayor was not able to clamp the lid on council discussion. However, his friends saw to it that there was no roll call which might hinder peace negotiations.

Shaffer Defends Crowe.

"It has long been the custom to assign policemen to the state's attorney's office for use in investigating law violations," said Ald. Samuel O. Shaffer, when he introduced the ordinance which would compel Chief Fitzmorris to pursue a "hands off" policy toward forty policemen as assigned.

"I don't see why there should be a man in this council or this administration who desires to hinder the state's attorney," Ald. Shaffer said. "Let's show our approval of Mr. Crowe's splendid work by passing this ordinance."

Ald. Shaffer asked that the matter be sent to the police committee. Ald. Olsen, an administration leader, immediately demanded that it be sent to the finance committee. He had conferred with Mayor Thompson a few minutes before. Chief Fitzmorris is said to be "strong" with the finance committee.

Olsen Opposes Ordinance.

"It is a question of spending money for policemen to do the work of a county officer," Ald. Olsen said. "I see no reason why we should do it. Let the county board furnish Mr. Crowe his men. If we give Crowe forty policemen, Brundage will ask us for a hundred."

"Crowe already has twenty-five deputy sheriffs. There is no emergency," declared Ald. Powers.

There were general cries for the finance committee. Mayor Thompson put the question to a viva voce vote. There was a roar of ayes and a few scattering nays.

Throughout the debate Lundin-Thompson aldermen were in terror that they would be compelled to go on record as favoring either Mr. Crowe or Chief Fitzmorris. With no word from the mayor as to his position, they were at sea.

President Frazier of the merit board did not deny a report that Sgt. O'Malley's case was continued at the request of the mayor. It was pointed out that his peace negotiations might be upset if Mr. Crowe spoke his mind before the trial board concerning Chief Fitzmorris' suspension of O'Malley.

ARTICLE III.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—(Special.)—Washington, the guide books say, was planned by Maj. Pierre Charles L'Enfant in imitation of Versailles. If so, it has broken away from his intentions. I know Versailles pretty well, and I have gone about Washington looking vainly for anything more than the remotest resemblance. There is something European about Washington, I admit, an Italianate largeness, as though a Roman design has been given oxygen and limitless space. It is a capital in the expanded Latin style. It has none of the vertical uplift of a real American city. But Versailles! Versailles was the home and embodiment of the old French Grand Monarchy and of a Foreign Policy that sought to dominate, Frenchify, and "Versaillize" the world.

Versailles Cat Came Back.

A visit to Versailles is part of one's world education, a visit to the rather faded, rather pretentious magnificence of its terraces, to that Hall of Mirrors, all plastered over with little oblongs of looking glass, which was once considered so wonderful, to the stuffy, secretive royal apartments with their convenient back stairs, to the poor foolishness of the queen's toy village, the Little Trianon.

A century and a half ago the people of France, wasted and worn by incessant wars of aggression, weary of a government that was an intolerable burden to them and a nuisance to all Europe, went to Versailles in a passion and dragged French policy out of Versailles for a time.

Unhappily it went back there.

Bad Taste of Germans.

In 1871, when Germany struck down the tawdry imperialism of Napoleon III. (who was also for setting up emperors in the new world) the Germans had the excessive bad taste to proclaim a new German empire in the hall of mirrors. So that Versailles became more than ever the symbol of the age long, dreary, pitiful quarrel of the French and Germans for the inheritance of "the empire" that has gone on ever since the death of Charlemagne.

There the glory of France had shone; there the glory of France had been eclipsed. I visited Versailles one autumnal day in 1912, and it was then a rather moldy, disheveled, empty, picturesque show place, pervaded by memories of flounces, furbelows, wigs, and red heels, and also by the stronger, less pleasant flavor of that later Prussian triumph.

Dismal Place for Work.

It was surely the least propitious place in the whole world for the making of a world peace in 1919. It was inevitable that there the Rhine frontier should loom larger than all Asia and that the German people should be kept waiting outside to learn what vindictive punishment victorious France designed for them.

The peace of Versailles was not a settlement of the world; it was the crowning of the French revanche. And since Russia had always been below the horizon of Versailles it was as inevitable that the Russian people, who had saved France from utter defeat in 1914, who had given far more dead to the war than France and America put together, and who had colonial blood on the battlefields of the world, should be kept waiting outside to learn what vindictive punishment victorious France designed for them.

HOPE OF WORLD AT WASHINGTON—LLOYD GEORGE

Expressing the British attitude toward the armament conference which opens tomorrow in Washington, Lloyd George spoke yesterday in London, saying:

"The blue sky is beginning to emerge. The Washington conference is like a rainbow in the sky. . . . It has the future of civilization in its charge. . . . If its aims are achieved the conference will be the greatest event in the last 1,900 years."

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—(Special.)—Landing President Harding for far-seeing statesmanship and declaring that "the heart of Britain is deeply set on the success of the conference," Prime Minister Lloyd George called today that he would sail for Washington as soon as the Irish and unemployment situations permit.

The prime minister expressed the hope that he would reach Washington before the conference on limitation of armaments arrived at the crucial stage. In view of the divergence of the American and Japanese positions on Pacific and far eastern questions and of the genius of Mr. Lloyd George for effecting compromises, his arrival here is not unlikely to mark the turning point of the negotiations.

Lloyd George's Message.

The cablegram, which Mr. Lloyd George addressed to Secretary of State Hughes, follows:

"Will you please express to President Harding my very keen regret and disappointment at having been unable to leave England in time to attend the opening of the Washington conference. The discussion to which he has invited the powers whose representatives assemble in Washington this week is of profound importance to the whole world.

"Nothing but the intensely delicate state of the Irish negotiations and the absolute obligation which I feel to parliament and the country to be present here until those negotiations are completed and the government's unemployment legislation is in operation would have prevented my sailing last Saturday as I hoped to do.

"I must discharge that obligation before I leave, but I will sail at the earliest possible moment, and I hope to be with you before the conference reaches the deciding stage of its momentous work.

"I need not assure you in the meantime that the heart of Britain is deeply set upon the success of the conference. The world has needed such a lead as President Harding gave us last July for many anxious months. It was the new world's opportunity. To have grasped it promptly, as President Harding and his advisers did, will prove a lasting credit to the clear-eyed statesmanship of the United States."

British Influence Problematic.

To what extent Great Britain will cooperate with the United States in the conference remains to be seen. Mr. Lloyd George has proposed an Anglo-American-Japanese entente as a substitute for the Anglo-Japanese alliance, a proposal which partakes of the nature of a compromise between Japan, which wants to retain alliance with England, and America, which regards the alliance with disfavour.

On limitation of naval armament American and British statesmen are close together, both favoring armament "essential to national defense." Both are for an agreement setting bounds to the size of each navy, with future construction limited to replacement purposes. The British agree to a parity of the British and American navies.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—It is the custom for the chief of the British government to choose the occasion of the inaugural banquet of the lord mayor of London for making important announcements on the government's policy. Prime Minister Lloyd George this year was the principal guest of Sir John Baddley, the new lord mayor, at the historic old guild hall of the old city, where banquets have been held for hundreds of years.

Mr. Lloyd George began by discussing the disarmament conference:

"There are signs of a coming improvement in trade," he began. "The

WOMAN FIGHTS, TRAPS BURGLAR LOOTING HOME

Mrs. William Mack Baxter, wife of the president of the Baxter-Stewart Motor company, yesterday fought and captured a burglar in her home at 527 Deming place, holding him prisoner in a bedroom until the police, warned by a telephone operator, came to the rescue. More than $30,000 worth of valuables were saved by her prompt action.

Alarmed by the arrival of the police, the burglar, Leo Culom, 825 South State street, jumped from a second story window and was recaptured after a severe struggle.

Mrs. Baxter was sitting in the living room of her apartment when she heard a crash of glass in the rear. She jumped to her feet and ran out into the darkened hall. A man stood there; he grasped her roughly by the shoulders.

Burglar Is Tricked.

"What are you doing here? What do you want?" she gasped.

"Shut up!" he rasped. "Where's your money?"

"In there," she said, and pointed to the half open door of her bedroom. The burglar released her and walked into the room. She softly pulled the door closed behind him and tiptoed to the telephone. She lifted the receiver.

"Police at 527 Deming place," she whispered and hung up.

The operator flashed the Sheffield avenue station.

Meanwhile the burglar turned and saw the closed door. He walked to it; began to open it. Mrs. Baxter ran back and pulled it shut; then hung onto the knob.

Struggle at the Door.

"Let go—open that door or you'll get hurt!" the burglar warned, but she stood pat. For ten minutes or more there was a struggle. The door would open for a few inches and then she'd summon strength to pull it shut again. Finally, as her strength was just about exhausted, there came a rush of feet up the apartment stairs and a heavy knock on the door.

"Police! What is the trouble here?" came a stern voice.

The burglar, hearing it, let go the doorknob and ran to the window. As Mrs. Baxter rushed to the front door to let in the officers, he opened the window and jumped out. Two stories below was a cement sidewalk.

Battles with Policemen.

Two other policemen waiting out in front, saw the man jump. They ran for him. He fought them both, slugging, hitting, and scratching. He won many medals for exploits under fire.

"Bravery? I'm not in it," he proudly smiled last night. His wife smiled back at him.

2 Men and Woman Drive Auto Into Window; Flee

Two men and a woman, occupants of an automobile which early this morning was driven against a plate glass window in the gown shop of Miss Lynn, 2561 Broadway, are sought by the police.

According to the police they drove away in a cab and left the automobile standing partly inside the store window. Several gowns in the window were ruined and the damage was estimated at $1,000.

KEEP OPEN ALL NIGHT.

The saloonkeeper of 1919, in the great majority of cases, had to close his place at 1 a. m. to keep out of trouble with the police for violation of the city ordinance. Now the saloonkeeper remains open as long as it is profitable. Actually he owns and operates a saloon; technically there are no saloons—and who can close for the night something that technically doesn't exist?

Up until June 30, 1919, a drink of whisky might be purchased in practically all $1,000 a year license saloons for 15 cents. This would be good whisky, as whisky goes, and the bartender would set the decanter up to the customer and he could pour out what pleased him into a three ounce glass.

Today the drinker pays for whisky at least 75 cents a drink—in some places 75 or more—and it may be whisky or it may not. Moreover, the bartender now does the "pouring" and the drinker becomes expert in gauging a half ounce into an ounce glass—a glass in the way, well camouflaged to make it look like the three ounce glass.

Make Larger Profits.

The Chicago saloon business today is different from the average saloon. The saloon is making more money. One saloonkeeper drinking in another man's saloon in West North avenue said: "I used to buy bonded whisky for $9 a case and sell it for $12.5 a bottle. Now I get $15 for the case, or a profit of $4. If I sold it over the bar in drinks I probably made 50 cents to $1 more per bottle."

"Now I pay $130 a case. I buy a case of plain. Out of each pint I can

BIG KING COBRA BATTLES 3 MEN IN GOTHAM ZOO

New York, Nov. 9.—(Special.)—Three men fought for their lives with two king cobras, the deadliest creature of the jungle, in the reptile house of the New York Zoological park today.

Raymond L. Dittmars, curator, with Head Keeper Toomey and Keeper Taggart, struggled for more than an hour to carry out an operation on the eyes of the two big snakes.

The three men tried to hold the larger snake, a 13 footer, down with a hickory pole, but he slipped out from under and wrapped part of himself around each of them. It was only after the hardest sort of struggle that they were able to get the cobra inside the cage and shut the door upon him. They gave up the attempt for a few days to let the big snake quiet down.

SEIZE EVANSTON YOUTH AT U. OF I.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 9.—(Special.)—Stuyvesant S. Smith of Evanston, Ill., a student at the University of Illinois, was arrested here charged with promoting a lottery on the Big Ten football games. He gave bonds of $500 pending his appearance Monday in County court. The first complaint was made to State's Attorney Cline by George Huff, director of athletics at the university.

"We have been conducting a campaign against gambling," Mr. Huff said, "and we believe this lottery has been carried on for some time. I feel the time has come for drastic action."

It is alleged the lottery was conducted with cards on which the names of the Big Ten teams were printed; that three of these names were punched by the lottery operators and the card identified with a particular drawing for a particular week. The players released the card and fled to the restaurant, where he donned the jacket and apron of the chef. The children, however, had no trouble in pointing him out.

More than 100 complaints from parents had been turned in by parents regarding a man annoying their children near the schools.

Seize Armed Men After Fusillade by the Police

Three men, two of whom were armed, were arrested early this morning by the flivver squad of the West Chicago avenue station after a chase in which five shots were fired by the police. They are: Jack Miller, 300 West 30th street; Markie Matsch, 11609 Torrence avenue, and Alexander Meyerhoff, 5118 North Lincoln street.

In Miller's pocket was found a letter sent from New Orleans saying "dope" was cheap down south and asking him if he would be ready to handle a traffic in the drugs. Miller will be turned over to federal authorities.

Youth Flees from Cop; Shots Break Both Legs

Georgius Briscione, 16 years old, 619 North May street, a school student, was shot twice last night as he ran away from Sgt. Louis Pfankucher of the West Chicago avenue station. Pfankucher was searching for alleged Black Handers. He accosted the boy; the boy fled. Both legs were broken.

MORPHINE WAVE SWEEPS CHICAGO—ENGLISH DOCTOR

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
LONDON, Nov. 9.—Lecturing to-night before the Pharmaceutical society of Great Britain, Prof. W. E. Dixon of Cambridge university declared addiction was menacing the United States and that 90 per cent of the opium and cocaine entering the country is used illegitimately.

He said that Austria used a half a grain per head per annum, Italy, one grain; France, three grains; and the United States, thirty-six grains, while a medical officer at the port of New York now puts the United States figure at forty grains.

He said New Yorkers used cocaine, while morphine was the favorite narcotic in Chicago. He said prohibition caused the increase in drug addiction, stating that it is inconceivable to lengthen men will go to obtain substitutes for alcohol.

BRITISH TO BEGIN PAYING U. S. $5 ON 4 BILLIONS

LONDON, Nov. 9.—[By The Associated Press.]—An arrangement has been made to begin paying the interest on the debt owed by Great Britain to the United States at the rate of $50,000,000 ($200,000,000) yearly, it was announced in the house of commons today by Sir Robert Horne, the chancellor of the exchequer.

Sir Robert made this announcement in the course of a statement on the budget prospects. He added with emphasis:

"I hope this remark about the debt we owe America will not be made the occasion for any discussion of the inter-allied indebtedness. It does not conduce to the friendliness all the feeling between America and ourselves to discuss that matter at all at present."

Ex-Postmistress of West Palm Beach, Fla., Indicted

Orlando, Fla., Nov. 9.—(Special.)—Lena M. T. Clarke, formerly of Chicago, former postmistress of West Palm Beach, close friend of the late Joseph Elwell, about whose murder she has thrown further mystery, was the subject of a true bill returned last night by the grand jury. She has recently made charges that she sent the New York police which would have cleared up the case was suppressed.

The indictment will be formally returned in court in the morning.

It is rumored the true bill will charge first degree murder of Fred Mitmore, Miss Clarke's former assistant and the man whom she had charged with responsibility for a shortage of $32,000 in her accounts as postmistress.

world is settling down to work, and it is work alone that will fill up the depleted tills which will enable purchasers to come to the markets. The blue sky is beginning to emerge. In this connection the Washington conference summoned by President Harding is like a rainbow in a sky, for without the assurance of peace the restoration of business is impossible. This conference comes none too soon.

"War Failed to Teach Lesson."

"So far the war has not had the effect, which every sane man anticipated, of arresting the growth of armaments. Man is the most unteachable of all animals. If you inflict punishment on any other animal, he quickly learns a lesson.

"But take the late war. It was the most terrible and destructive war in the history of the world. For that devastation the competition of arms largely was responsible. That lesson was scoured deep into the flesh of the world, yet no sooner did we get out of it than the nations began spending their substance devising and amassing fresh engines of war.

"Fresh combinations have been engineered to prepare for war. Fresh subjects spring up everywhere to justify war. You might imagine that the one purpose and glory of national organization is human slaughter.

"The armaments of today are three as expensive in men and materials as before the great war. At the present rate they will soon be 100 times as destructive and terrible."

"Disarmament Only Safe Road."

"In peace the burden was crushing. In war the effect will be too horrible to contemplate.

"Disarmament is the only road to safety for the human race. Suspicions, fears, misunderstandings, and even quarrels are as inevitable among nations as among individuals, and if deadly weapons are at hand, one day they will strike.

"The American conference has the future of civilization in its charge. Therefore I earnestly pray for the fruits of its success. Twenty-five years ago Lord Salisbury expressed the satisfaction that the people of this country felt over the solution which had just been reached on our last serious difference with the United States of America. Every man and woman of British blood is taught to regard the quarrel with America as unthinkable. That attitude minds itself as a guarantee for peace between the two countries.

Irish Parley Called Hopeful.

Referring to Ireland, Lloyd George said: "Last year I mentioned here that we were extending an invitation on behalf of the people of Great Britain to the people of Ireland to quit the path of blood and to come into a free partnership with the British empire as an equal. I cannot reveal any secret of the conference room. That is the way to bring the conference to naught. All I can say is that there is a better prospect of the invitation being heeded today than at any time for years.

"We are now arriving at probably the most critical stage of the conference and I will say nothing that would make it difficult for us to arrive at an agreement as it is so much to the interest of the empire that there should be peace and a solution of our difficulty.

Peace or Serious Strife.

"If the Irish conference does not lead to peace, it will imply by its very existence that there is no other great opportunity lost, and it will be another burden for a very heavy burdened people to carry. The costs will be great for the forces at our command will have to be more than doubled, but that is only a part of the real loss. The real loss will be in the embarrassment, weakness, and discredit to the empire that cannot settle its own troubles.

"All that I can say in conclusion is that we are in this conference on behalf of the British government and the British people and we regard ourselves as the trustees of the empire and the guarantors of its honor and its security. It is a high trust, and we promise you that we will not betray it. All of us, without difference or distinction, will discharge it without regard to our own political fortune."

'FRANCE ASKING ONLY RIGHT OF SELF-DEFENSE'

Briand Pits Secure Europe Against Safe Pacific.

BY HENRY WALES.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—In an interview to the American newspaper correspondents who accompanied him across the Atlantic on the liner La Fayette Premier Briand this evening outlined the French attitude toward the Pacific disarmament conference. M. Briand stated: "First—France intends to ask for nothing at this conference. He has no intention of attempting to reopen the question of the Anglo-Franco-American defensive alliance.

"Second—France is capable of safeguarding her own security and must insist that she do it in her own way. Any interference would amount to usurpation against her sovereignty.

"Third—'Moral solidarity' among the powers is necessary and, just as France must interest herself in the affairs of the Pacific, so the United States cannot disinterest herself wholly from the affairs of Europe.

"Fourth—France has no intention of raising the question of war debts, which are not on the agenda for the conference and could only be added by unanimous vote.

Insists on Sovereignty.

It was evident from the premier's statements that any attempt by the conference to interfere with France's defensive military organization would be regarded as assailing the sovereign rights of that state. He dwelt on the respect for sovereign powers of all states that the United States has always championed and violation of which was threatened by the league of nations, according to administration criticism of that organization.

Although M. Briand stated that France would not ask that the financial question be added to the agenda of the conference, it is expected that, in unofficial conversations with the American government, the French will seek certain concessions in settlement of their war debt.

Fixation of the date at the exchange rate at which it was contracted, averaging 5 1/2 francs to the dollar, instead of 13 1/2 francs per dollar, as exists today, and easements in payment of interest is what France hopes to obtain. In these questions she would have the support of Great Britain, Italy, Belgium, and other debtors to America, all of whom borrowed at much more advantageous rates to them than prevail now.

Loucheur Coming to U. S.

M. Briand confirmed the report that M. Louis Loucheur, minister of the liberated regions, reported the richest man in France and financial wizard, will come to Washington immediately after he (M. Briand) returns to Paris.

"I want to make it clear first of all," said M. Briand, "that France has come to Washington asking nothing. In the past France might have nurtured dreams; perhaps she hoped for some arrangement with the allies to help in guaranteeing her safety, but she is sufficiently wedded to the principle of national sovereignty to realize that this, being impossible, it need no longer be discussed."

Briand in Pessimistic View.

M. Briand indicated a note of pessimism regarding the solution of all problems up for discussion by continuing:

"The French are considered to be rainbow chasers and prey to illusions. But the French realize fully that the problem of peace cannot spring full grown into being like Minerva from the head of Jupiter. Nevertheless, a frank interchange of ideas at such conferences will naturally produce helpful results. There is a general atmosphere of good will prevalent here, something which has been lacking in such reunions in the past."

"Often at other conferences the

Ready to Guard Selves.

Replying to a question as to whether France would ask again for a defensive alliance with Britain and the United States, M. Briand shook his head in the negative. "That is all in the past," he said. "We have no intention of bringing it up again here. We are ready to safeguard our own security. All we ask is to be permitted to do so in our own way. Certainly a country which holds such respect for the principle of national sovereignty as the United States would not seek to define the calibre of the pistol we must have to defend ourselves with."

"Facing Two Volcanoes."

M. Briand spoke of France facing two volcanoes—Germany and Russia. "If it had not been for French aid to Poland, Russia might have swept over Europe," he said. "The result would have been terrible economically and socially for America. France was the soldier of liberty, she has become the soldier of law and order."

The French premier then gave voice to the faith of his country in the United States if she were ever again the object of another ruthless attack.

SOUTHERN CHINA READY TO FIGHT FOR ITS CLAIMS

Will Oppose Decision at Washington.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Just as the United States senate fought and defeated the Wilson peace treaty, so will the government of south China fight any plan for the settlement of China's affairs that is accepted by the official Chinese delegation to the arms conference. The Peking delegates retain a passive attitude and, while asking everything from the conference in the way of complete freedom for China, they really expect little.

Southern Forces on Move.

On the eve of the conference, Dr. Sun, father of the Chinese revolution, is unrecognized and unrepresented here, and advice from Canton are that he has left that capital for Kwangsi province and is preparing to march north to establish a new capital at Wuchang, where he will be more out of reach of the British government is opposing him. His plan, it is said, is to lead three columns, one from Kwangsi, another from Hunan and one from Kwangtung.

This move by the southern forces is regarded by the Peking delegates as political, and it is predicted that he will not get far toward Wuchang. The Peking delegates retain a passive attitude and, while asking everything from the conference in the way of complete freedom for China, they really expect little.

May Repeat Poland's Fate.

"China may be partitioned as Poland was," said Dr. Y. S. Tsao. "Then in 300 years there may be another story to tell. The trouble is you western nations are in too much of a hurry. You expect to settle China's affairs in a few weeks. I look on this conference really as an indictment of western civilization by eastern scholars."

"Japan has been true to the west. She says now, through Baron Kato, 'show us the way to pull ourselves up by our own boot straps and we will follow.' The Versailles conference was true to history, the stronger dividing the weak. The only hope that China has is that the powers were willing to come to this conference to discuss a possible new way."

U. S. MAY HALT BIG NAVY PLAN; MOVE IN SENATE

Pomerene Urges It for "Moral Effect."

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—The movement to suspend construction on America's gigantic naval program as an example to other nations participating in the conference on the limitation of armament was revived in the senate today. There is a possibility that President Harding may order such a suspension without congressional action. If he does not do so, the question may precipitate a lively parliamentary battle.

Senator Pomerene of Ohio, a Democratic member of the foreign relations committee, brought the issue to the fore today by going to the White House and conferring with President Harding. The Ohio senator is the author of a resolution introduced in the senate last July authorizing the President, in his discretion, to delay for a period of six months all naval construction pending the outcome of negotiations for armament reduction. The resolution was referred to the naval affairs committee.

"Faith in Moral Effects."

Senator Pomerene told the President he thought steps should be taken to stop all work on the construction of American naval vessels. He declined to say what Mr. Harding's attitude was.

"Suspension of naval construction would have a tremendous moral effect upon the other nations," he said. "The conference would have a most auspicious opening if Mr. Hughes were enabled to stand before the delegates and announce that the United States, as an evidence of its good faith, had ordered all naval work stopped. On the other hand, it can but be a source of embarrassment if the Japanese delegates, for instance, arise and say to the United States: 'We came here in good faith, hoping for a reduction of armament. Now we find that you are straining your resources to build the greatest armada the world has ever seen.'"

President's Previous Stand.

Suspension of building would hardly conform to President Harding's already expressed policy. He and his closest associates have declared that there can be no limitation of armament without a proportionate agreement among all the naval powers.

Senator Pomerene conferred with Senator Borah of Idaho, one of the leading advocates of limitation of armament. Senator Borah promised to support Senator Pomerene in any move to bring the resolution to a vote.

"BIG TIM," FOUND GUILTY, PLEADED BY "GOOD BREAK"

Finds Consolation in Mixed Verdict.

"Big Tim" Murphy, labor boss and victor of many a brush with state authorities, won what he termed a "good break" yesterday when a federal jury found him guilty of conspiracy to rob the United States mails but failed to hold him for robbery.

The verdict carries with it a maximum sentence of six years and fines of $20,000. The conviction grew out of the $238,000 Dearborn station mail robbery.

Vincenzo Cosmano, Paul Volanti, Edward Guerin, co-defendants, were also found guilty of conspiracy. Volanti was found guilty of conspiracy to have in his possession stolen government property. His sentence carries a two year term. Cosmano, Volanti, and Guerin are found guilty of simply conspiracy to rob the mails. Four years is the maximum they can receive. Murphy also was found guilty of conspiracy to have stolen property in his possession. This gives him the extra two years.

Murphy Sees Victory.
"Big Tim" and his co-defendants were jubilant. The government attorneys and postal inspectors, who had worked for six months to weave a chain of evidence that would convict Murphy, were disappointed. They had hoped to have him found guilty on the charge of robbing the mails with a gun and assaulting the mail clerks. This, if the maximum sentences were given, would carry a sentence of sixty years.

"I have been singled, but not burned," said Murphy with a smile as he shook hands with court fans who crowded around him. "Judge Landis is square. I got a fair shake from him."

New Trial Is Asked.
Judge Landis indicated that he would hear the motion for a new trial made by Senator James Barbour next Monday morning. Sentence will be pronounced at that time if the motion is overruled. Attorneys for all the defendants said they would immediately appeal to the higher courts.

The robbery charge was committed on April 5 at the Dearborn street station. Five men riding in an automobile dashed up to the station in the dusk of an April evening. A confederate raised his hat in the crowd as a big government truck rumbled up. It was the signal, and two minutes later the automobile disappeared with almost half a million dollars' worth of government bonds and cash taken at the point of revolvers from the mail clerks in charge of the truck.

Ten men were later indicted for the robbery. Four have not been apprehended. Ralph Teter and George Bradford, alias Hecker, made confessions implicating all the men indicted and was their evidence that swung the jury at the trial.

Murphy Tells Story.
"I'm just unfortunate," said Murphy when interviewed. "I was a good fellow to Teter and Bradford. I let them hang around my office and they hooked me."

"I was just a typical back of the yard kid. My father died when I was 12 years old and I had to support my mother while other kids were going to school. The only teachers I had were the kids I met in the streets. When I grew up, like all the other young fellows in my district, I wanted to become a politician."

"I went to the state legislature. Later I began hanging around Quincy street. I got a charter for the street cleaners' union. Later I became interested in the gashouse workers, and I've been in the labor game ever since. I've always been a good fellow. Lots of fellows come and go around my office. I don't ask them their business. That was how Teter and Bradford hooked me. When they became fixated they framed on me and the circumstantial evidence swayed the jury."

Prosecutor Is Pleased.
Assistant Attorney General John E. Neuhoff, who prosecuted the case, said that although the verdict was evidently a compromise, it still works out well, for it will remove "Big Tim" from Chicago.

"At first I was disappointed because they didn't find him guilty of the crime he committed. Now I don't feel so bad. After all six years is six years, and it doesn't matter whether he serves it for conspiracy or robbery."

Postal inspectors, including Chief Inspector Germer, Faby, Murphy, Hitchcock, and Lewis, the men who worked up the case, were frankly disappointed. Faby characterized the verdict as a miscarriage of justice.

At a conference of federal officials held in the city yesterday plans for guarding mail wagons for the mails were discussed. The use of the marines was originally suggested by Will H. ### ULSTER CHIEFS "LOST IN FOG" ON ERIN PEACE PLAN

Less Truculent as to United Ireland.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The center of gravity of Irish affairs shifted today to the Ulster cabinet, which met here to consider the peace proposals under which Ulster would become a province in the new dominion of Ireland.

So far as could be learned the Ulstermen are not in a truculent mood, as represented before their arrival, and they appear to be willing to give fair consideration to the peace proposals.

Prime Minister Lloyd George is playing a clever political game to obtain time for uninterrupted negotiations. The Ulstermen expected to have the proposals before them in writing today, but when they met the proposals were not there.

The point is that parliament has been prorogued for tomorrow evening, and after that Mr. Lloyd George cannot be worried by the "die hards."

Mr. Lloyd George has arranged to meet the Ulsterites at 5 p. m. tomorrow. Col. Spender, secretary of the Ulster cabinet, said the situation was so serious that it will probably take his associates several days to reach a decision. The whole tone of the delegation is that the members are puzzled and uncertain as to what to do.

T. M. Moles, coming out of the meeting, said: "We are in a fog just like the present fog is one of the thickest that London has experienced this year."

To Guard Mail

"An armed United States marine will be in charge of every government mail car leaving the city of Chicago after midnight tonight."

This was the statement issued by Postmaster Arthur C. Lueder late yesterday afternoon.

The decision was the result of a council held in the office of the postmaster yesterday. The heads of all the divisions of the local office, together with several representatives of the local marine recruiting office, met there to discuss the order received from Postmaster General Hays Tuesday night, instructing the postmaster to use the "soldiers of the sea" to guard the mails.

It was later learned that the marines quartered at Great Lakes Training station will be the first to be pressed into service. More will be sent from Paris Island, and other training stations later.

FRENCH TO RULE TURK ARMY, SAYS BRITISH REPORT

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The British government has received very circumstantial reports that there is a secret clause in the treaty between France and the Nationalist Turkish government giving France the right to organize and control the gendarmerie throughout Turkey, which in effect would give France complete control of the Turkish military forces.

British officials said they are not willing to believe that France is so flagrantly violating the agreement against separate treaties with former enemies.

WASHINGTON NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 9.

Lloyd George in a message to Secretary of State Hughes expressing regret that he cannot reach Washington in time for opening of the armament conference, lauds President Harding for initiating the international discussion and declares "the heart of Britain is deeply set upon the success of the conference."

Premier Briand of France says that France has no intention to reopen the question of the Anglo-Franco-American defensive alliance; that she will not raise the issue of the war debts and will ask for nothing.

Ma So, personal representative of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, president of the South China republic, left Washington tonight to emphasize the fact that South China has no part in the armament conference.

Arguments in the Chicago traction case were concluded in the Supreme court today, the court taking the case under advisement.

Representative Royal Johnson, who fought in France, told the house today that American soldiers were not hanged abroad without a trial, but that he believed soldiers in the front line who were traitors, cowards, spies, or mentally deranged, were shot in some instances.

The movement in the senate to suspend naval construction while the armament conference is in session, has been revived.

America's unknown dead soldier arrived on the Olympia and rests tonight beneath the dome of the capitol, where President Harding received the casket and placed a wreath on it.

The senate tax bill will be sent to conference tomorrow by the house under an agreement not to make a fuss over the surtax amendments.

13,920,692 Foreign Born in U. S. on January 1, 1920

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—The total foreign born population of the United States on Jan. 1, 1920, numbered 13,920,692, representing an increase of 404,806, or 3 per cent, since 1910, according to the census bureau.

Of the total 6,493,088 were naturalized, 1,223,490 had taken out their first papers, and 5,269,605 were aliens. Status of the remaining 805,509 was not ascertained by the enumerators.

LIGREGNI PAYS FOR WIFE MURDER ON THE GALLOWS

Hanged Late in Day as an Object Lesson.

Frank Ligregni was hanged in the county jail yesterday afternoon. He paid with his life for the murder of Mrs. Genevieve Ligregni, his wife, a school teacher, whom he shot last winter when he visited her on a farm near Bartlett.

Ligregni was the first man in Chicago's history to be executed in the afternoon. The long wait yesterday before the platform fell under the condemned man was considered an object lesson to others in the jail by Chief Deputy Sheriff H. C. W. Laubenhelm, who had charge of the execution. It was 2:25 p. m. when the deputy on the gallows held up his hand for silence. The room, crowded with newspaper men, members of the grand jury, two or three theatrical men, physicians, deputies and witnesses, grew quiet.

Has Nothing to Say.
Mr. Laubenhelm and four deputies walked out on the platform. Ligregni, a deputy holding each arm, followed. Father Edward Shield said a prayer as they tied the shroud about the man. "Have you anything to say?" Laubenhelm asked.

There was no answer. The rope was adjusted. Ligregni moved his head as if to make it fit more snugly. The priest began another prayer. There was a crash as the platform swung away.

Fourteen minutes later they placed the body on a table.

Gives Two Letters to Priest.
Ligregni gave Father Shield two letters before the death march began. One was a twenty-four page statement to his mother. The man maintained a sullen air throughout the long wait in the death cell. From time to time nuns brought him spaghetti.

Ligregni made four attempts to escape from the Criminal Court building and the county jail since he was first arrested.

City Manager Government Goes Over at Cleveland

Cleveland, O., Nov. 9.—Cleveland adopted the city manager form of government by a majority of 15,000 votes in yesterday's election, according to early returns today.

A city manager and a council of twenty-five will take the place of the council of aldermen and a mayor on Jan. 1, 1924. Cleveland is the largest city in the country to adopt the city manager form.

Fred Kohler, former "golden rule" police chief, is the new mayor.

RAIDERS SEIZE LIQUOR ABOARD ASTOR'S YACHT

He Blames Crew for Presence of Rum.

New York, Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Vincenzo Astor's yacht Nourmahal was raided today by customs officials and a small quantity of liquor found. The yacht, lying off the New York Yacht club in the East river, has just returned from a long cruise in a western sea.

Mr. Astor was not aboard when the raid was staged. He had left for his 5th avenue home an hour or so before the customs officers made the search and later a statement was issued disclaiming ownership of the rum.

"None of the liquor found was by the crew. At the customs house it was said that the officers believed the crew had 'put something over' on Astor."

"None of the liquor found was Mr. Astor's," the statement explains. "Furthermore, he had told the captain and steward before reaching the three-mile limit to search the ship for any liquor which might have been smuggled on board by the crew and, if any were found, to throw it overboard. This was done and the captain reported that he had found none."

At the customs house little information in regard to the raid was available. It was said that no details could be given until the report from the raiding party had been received.

EASTERN EXPERT SEES NORMALCY IN THE OFFING

"The old, reliable customers, with steady incomes are returning and the men who bought silk shirts during the days of high wartime wages no longer buying them."

That is how Charles Coolidge Parlin, head of the commercial research division of the Curtis Publishing company, indicated yesterday the swing of the commercial pendulum back from "the wartime market, supported by abnormally high wages," to the "old time market, which daily is gaining greater buying power."

Mr. Parlin was the principal speaker yesterday before 1,500 delegates to the convention of the American Gas Association in the Congress hotel.

Dana D. Edmund of Boston was chosen president of the association yesterday; R. B. Brown of Milwaukee, vice president, and Harry M. Brundage of New York, treasurer.

The convention will close tomorrow.

PACKERS URGE WORKERS TO CUT THEIR OWN PAY

Vote on Decrease Will Be Taken.

The first real test of the "representative government plan" in vogue in four of the "Big Five" packing companies came yesterday when employees asked the workers to slice their own pay for the good of the industry.

The four companies where the plan is in operation are Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Wilson & Co., and the Cudahy Packing company. It is presumed that Morris & Co., the remaining member of the "Big Five," in which the "plan assembly" idea has not been installed will not follow the lead of the other until they have adjusted wages. The degree of the wage reduction will be decided upon by ballot, if there is to be any. One hundred and twenty-five thousand workers are affected.

Strike Vote Already Taken.

The Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's Union of North America, anticipating such a move on the part of the employers, called for a strike vote not long ago. Union officials say that the organized employees prefer to strike rather than take a pay cut. Packers, on the other hand, say that the organized group of their men is small.

"Hard times" is the reason for the request offered by the employers. A letter from Louis F. Swift, president of Swift & Co., is typical of those sent to the assemblies in other plants.

Letter to Employers.

It follows: "We regret that we must at this time ask you to present an unpopular subject to your workmen through your assembly, but trust that the members of our organization realize that we want them to suffer as little hardship as possible from the hard times that have befallen the country.

"It is only because of the greatest necessity that we bring up the need of a further substantial reduction in expenses, so that we may meet the competition of other concerns operating at much lower labor costs. We have been doing all that we can in this direction, but unfortunately wages form such a large part of our expenses that it now becomes necessary to consider an early reduction in wages.

"It must be apparent to you, to your foremen, and your workmen that this step has to be taken."

To Consult on Strike.

"The packers' action is no surprise to us," Cornelius Hayes, international president of the union, said when told of today's action. "And the packers are going to cut wages regardless."

The present scale of wages in the industry ranges from 45 cents an hour for common labor—which includes 50 per cent of all men employed—to a maximum of 80 cents for the highly skilled floormen. Semi-skilled trades are paid from 45 to 55 cents, killers from 62 to 65 cents, and hide removers from 70 to 75 cents an hour.

TAGGERS

(TRIBUNE Photo.)

Incomplete figures compiled last night showed that more than $40,000 was collected during the first tag day ever held by the Sisters of Mercy. Many of the boxes had not been counted when this approximate figure was announced. Mrs. William J. Corbett, 4716 Drexel boulevard, in charge of the drive, expressed her thanks to the people of Chicago, on behalf of the order, for their generosity.

The tag day was part of a diamond jubilee drive which has been in progress for the last month to raise a $1,000,000 fund to be used in erecting new buildings for the educational, religious, and charitable work of the order.

SHERIFF'S AID TELLS PLAN FOR COUNTY POLICE

H. C. W. Laubenheimer, chief deputy sheriff, yesterday told representatives of thirty civic organizations gathered at the Hamilton club of the need for police to guard Cook county outside the city limits. He also declared that before long a county "speeders" court would be established, with a judge of the Circuit court presiding.

Mr. Laubenheimer read Sheriff Peters' petition to the judges of the Circuit court for 125 police to patrol the county roads. "While the men for whom we ask will aid in dealing with speeders, we do not intend to use them solely for that purpose," he said. "We hope that with them we will be able to suppress crime in the country towns."

He said it was intended to establish three central police stations in the county.

TOO MUCH CORN; 1921 SURPLUS IS 500,000,000 BU.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

As the agricultural experts figure it, the trouble in the corn situation is the presence of some half billion bushels which the farmer does not know what to do with.

After domestic consumption, foreign demand, hog feeding, cattle raising, and other outlets are taken care of, the half billion bushels loom as a surplus which keeps dragging down the price.

Corn exports are bucking up and have been all year, according to the foreign trade tables. In the nine months ending with September, corn exports were 105,000,000 bushels. This is compared with only 11,000,000 bushels in the first nine months of 1920.

The statisticians of the National City Bank of New York estimate that the total corn exports for the calendar year 1921 will be the largest in twenty years.

But the demand is not enough to eat up the surplus. The American Federation of Farm Bureaus yesterday completed an interesting computation of the 1921 crop. The crop itself amounted to 3,163,000,000 bushels and the carry over from last year was 218,335,000, meaning a total of 3,382,000,000 bushels.

The average consumption over a period of ten years, including exports, the bureau places at 2,701,000,000 bushels, leaving 621,000,000 bushels to be disposed of. The average carry over for a ten year period is figured at 100,000 bushels, leaving 521,000,000 bushels as the "white elephant."

Two Bumper Crops in Row.

A whopping crop in 1921 came on top of a bumper crop in 1920. It found a large carry-over accumulated—in September it was a common story in the corn belt to hear of farmers who had refused $1.60 and higher for their corn holding it for higher prices. And who then were relinquishing it at 35 or 40 cents and lower.

Comparatively small exports in 1920, due to high prices and to heavily decreased purchasing power abroad, helped pile up the growing corn surplus. Then, too, a drop came in domestic requirements.

Of the corn fed on the farms, about one-half goes to hogs. At the beginning of September there were nearly 2 per cent fewer hogs than at the same time in 1920 and 8 per cent less than on Sept. 1, 1919.

About 20 per cent of the corn fed on the farm is fed to cattle. The cattle population is diminished. On Sept. 1 it was about 5 per cent less than on Sept. 1, 1919. Then, too, the decline in number of horses and mules in the last ten years, due to the advent of the automobile, meant a cut in the bushels fed. On the farms there are more horses than ten years ago, but in the cities the reverse is the case, and the total reduction in the last decade, when translated into bushels of grain of various sorts, means that about 200,000,000 bushels a year less goes to feeding horses and mules.

Prohibition, too, cut into corn consumption, regardless of oceans of moonshine.

As one agricultural authority phrased it yesterday:

"It all helped roll up the surplus."

We have had Lux analyzed and know there is nothing in it which could injure the delicate wool fibre. An ordinary harsh soap will make the tiny wool scales draw up and shrink.

Lux is also excellent for woolens because its thin flakes dissolve quickly and completely. This means that no solid soap can stick to the wool and yellow it.

We are glad to endorse Lux because its use in washing our garments means greater satisfaction to our customers and thus to us.

"Good, Long Rest."

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.

"Jewels, how I love them, when I don't have to pay for them," and Peggy Joyce, whose decree of divorce from James Stanley Joyce, millionaire lumbar, signed yesterday by Judge Sabath, forces her to return to Cartier the diamond diadem which has not been paid for, glanced with bored delight at the dazzling diamond cluster on her wrist, and the little finger and the shimmer of gems binding her wrist. Her blue eyes paused for a moment in quizzical contemplation of the ringless third finger of her left hand. Then they lighted up again as a burst of rhapsodic brilliancy radiated from the finger's buckle.

"But to pay huge sums of money for just a bit of tinsel? It is to laugh," said the little lady, nimbly in black velvet, as she buried her bobbled hair in a cluster of roses, with yard long stems, the gift of "a friend in Chicago, who still believes in me."

"Flowers, how I love them. They're almost as nice as diamonds, and not nearly so expensive," and the girl who has started life in all its sophistication focused her attention on two simple diamonds.

Always Getting Hurt.

"But the thorns; they hurt me. Everything seems to hurt me, more than it does other people." And so the unpaid jewels go back to Cartier and Peggy may continue to toy with the American beauty until she has as opportunity to find solace in the French fleur de lys.

"And I'll be back in France within a month," insisted Peggy as she wrapped a luxurious mink doberman, a $40,000 gift from Joyce, about her slim shoulders and cooked a French Napoleon black velvet hat with care, as precision over her bob, preparatory to a hurried exit from the Drake hotel yesterday afternoon to make the 530 train for New York.

When Mrs. Julia Sawdon, her former social secretary, who testified at the divorce hearing of Peggy's many affairs with many men, was mentioned, the former chorus girl, once more a divorcee, this time with a "dowry" of nearly $1,000,000, laughed a bit too enthusiastically.

"Why, she's just a jealous cat. When women are jealous, well, there's no stopping them. And to think how nice I've been to her. Jealous cat."

"But I don't care. It's all over. And I want a rest."

Sees Need of Economy.

Hope for a rest was momentarily interrupted by the bellboy entering with the bill, $427.50 for 3 days.

"I must learn to stop spending so much money, mustn't I?" and the question was meant to be repentant. "But I like giving things away. Let me have a rose on you. And it's tag day, in I want a tag. I must get one on the way to the station," and she pulled up an expensive beaded handbag and fumbled with some bills drawn into it loosely.

"Looks like a lot of money, but it isn't. You see, I got only $80,000. Yes, I could have contested it, but that would have taken two or three years, and I want a rest. I need a rest. I'm tired." She looked at a reflection of herself in a mirror opposite.

GERMANY'S RED DAY FADES TO A SICKLY PINK

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—Germany celebrated the third anniversary of former Kaiser William's flight, the Socialist revolution, and the establishment of the republic today in the mildest manner. Every one has realized that the extremist radical tone has gone from the Nov. 9 celebrations. The first celebration was very revolutionary, and even last year there was a wave of restlessness, but it was caused largely by strikes.

This year it is apparent that the extremists, who have been bemoaning the fact that the German youth had lost his revolutionary spirit and that the nation had become an ordinary bourgeois republic, were quite contented with the present form of government.

Riddle, Ex-Envoy to Russia, Assigned to Argentina

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—John W. Riddle of Connecticut, a former ambassador to Russia, was nominated today by President Harding to be ambassador to Argentina.

ALLIES DEFIED BY JUGO-SLAVS IN WAR ON ALBANIA

Montenegrins Rebel and Take Serb Fort.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

PARIS, Nov. 9.—The Jugo-Slav government is grossing its military operations against Albania despite the warning of France, Great Britain, and Italy to cease. Now the Montenegrins have risen against the Serbs and have joined forces with the Albanians. The Jugo-Slavs hope to capture Tirana, the capital of Albania, before the council of the league of nations meets in Paris on Nov. 18 so that they can face the league with a fait accompli. This means a new war in the Balkans unless pacific actions are swift.

The allied ambassadors presented a demand to Belgrade that operations cease immediately and informed the government that the frontier line behind which the Jugo-Slavs must withdraw would be communicated at once.

King Backs Albanian War.

On receipt of the note Premier Pachitch offered the king his resignation, but the king refused to accept it, indicating that he was satisfied with the premier's foreign policy.

Belgrade is certain Italy will not take any action until after the meeting of the council of the league. Once in Tirana, the Jugo-Slavs believe they can hold their own and force recognition of the Serbian claims to northern Albania. However, it is feared that Italy may strike at any moment in order to establish control of Albania and protect her Adriatic interests.

Late tonight reports received in Paris indicate that the Serbian advance has attained a point only a short distance from Tirana. The Serbs are meeting little opposition beyond sniping, owing to the strength of their army.

Montenegrins Begin Revolt.

ROME, Nov. 9.—(United Press.)—Montenegro has revolted against Jugo-Slavia and allied itself with Albania against the Serbs. Fighting was said to be under way at several points.

A Montenegrin battalion has occupied Mont Focner and hoisted the Montenegrin flag. This is the most strategic position in the Balkans and is known as "the Gibraltar of the Adriatic."

Following clashes with the revolting Montenegrins near Podgoritz, an important city twenty miles east of Cetinje, former capital of Montenegro, Serbian forces were reported to have started huge forest fires in the mountains.

YANK FIRM OPENS FIRST CONCESSION IN RED RUSSIA

Lenin Predicts U. S. War on Japan.

BY GEORGE SELDES.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—The first real concession granted by the Russian soviet for capitalist exploitation of natural resources has been awarded to Americans. Dr. Armand Hammer, representing the Allied Drug and Chemical corporation, 2413 3d avenue, New York, has completed a deal with the bolshevik authorities.

Dr. Hammer, who is in Berlin at present, said he interviewed Lenin and Trotsky concerning the concession, and found both the bolshevik leaders satisfied with the arrangement.

Pleasure to Lenin.

"I am glad that foreign capital has passed the talking stage and is actually beginning to invest real money in Russia," Lenin told Dr. Hammer, according to the latter.

Dr. Hammer, who was traveling in the Ural mountains, found an asbestos factory and "mountains" of raw materials in the little town of Alapaevsk, near Ekaterinburg. He arranged with the soviet to take over the property, the sole terms being that the American company turn over to the soviet 10 per cent of the finished products. Dr. Hammer says at present all asbestos is bought in Canada, which enjoys a monopoly. The asbestos factory was in good condition, although no work had been done in it for four years.

A. H. Michael, the treasurer of the company, already is in Moscow, where he is opening headquarters. The company has deposited $50,000 with the soviet mission in Berlin as security.

Lenin Sees War.

MOSCOW, Nov. 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Nikolai Lenin, the soviet Russian premier, made the fourth anniversary of the soviet republic today the occasion of an article in an anniversary number issued by the Pravda, in which he predicts the world chase for gold will result in wars between America and Japan or America and England by 1925 or 1928.

Look to Capitalist Aid.

PARIS, Nov. 9.—Insurmountable economic difficulties may compel Russia to appeal to foreign capitalists for aid in order to stave off disaster. Foreign Minister Tchitcherine of the bolshevik government is quoted by a correspondent for the Petit Parisien as saying in an interview at Moscow. Russia's policies are now directed only by economic interests, he asserts, and not by doctrine.

American at Red Feast.

RIGA, Nov. 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—A representative of the American relief administration was among the guests at a "diplomatic reception" given by M. Tchitcherine, the bolshevik foreign minister, on the occasion of the anniversary of the revolution in Russia, says the Rosta news agency.

HULL REJOICES OVER VICTORIES OF DEMOCRATS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—Yesterday's election results, showing Democratic gains in New York, Kentucky, Virginia, and Maryland, and the changing of party control in many cities, caused great rejoicing among the Democratic members of senate and house.

The outstanding case of state-wide Democratic victory was in Kentucky, where that party regained control of both houses of the legislature, which has been Republican for two years. The Democrats will have twenty members of the senate to eighteen for the Republicans, and sixty-seven members of the house to thirty-three Republicans.

In Maryland, where the entire lower house was elected, with twenty-seven members of the senate, Democratic control was increased.

Virginia the Democratic gubernatorial candidate, State Senator E. Lee Trinkle, led his Republican opponent by at least 65,000, carrying the whole ticket with him. The Ninth district went Democratic for the first time in twenty years.

Results of yesterday's elections

Hyman received 754,874 votes to 337,888 for Curran and 83,209 for Jacob Panken, Socialist.

CONCLAVE MUST UNDO VERSAILLES MISTAKES; WELLS

Russia and Germany Can't Be Ignored, He Says.

lapsed at last, utterly exhausted by their stupendous war efforts, should be considered merely as defaulting debtors of France.

Their government had incurred vast liabilities chiefly in preparation for this very war, which had restored France to her former glorious ascendancy over Germany. And now a new, ungracious government in Russia not only declared it could not pay, but refused to pretend that it had ever meant to perform this impossible feat.

There could be no dealing with such a government. The German people and the Russian people alike had no voice at Versailles, and the affairs of the world were settled with a majestic disregard of these outcast and fallen powers.

They were settled so conscientiously and badly that now the Washington conference, whatever limitations it may propose to set upon itself, has in effect to review and, if it can, mend or replace that appalling settlement. The Washington conference has practically revised the verdicts of Versailles, in a fresher air and with a wider outlook.

No Consent by People. I do not know how near future historians may come to saying that the Washington conference was planned in imitation of that Versailles conference, but it certainly does start out with one most unfortunate resemblance. There seems to be the same tacit assumption that it is possible to come to some permanent settlement of the world's affairs with no representation of either the German or the Russian people at the conference.

The Japanese, the Italians, the French, the Americans, and the British, assisted by modest suggestions from such small sections of humanity as China and Spanish America, are sitting down to arrangements that will amount practically to a settlement of the world's affairs and they are doing so without consulting these two great peoples, and quite without their consent and assistance.

This surely runs counter to the fundamental principle of both American and British political life—that is to say, the principle of government with the consent of the governed—and it is indeed an altogether deplorable intention. In some form these two great peoples will have to be associated with any permanent settlement, and it will be much more difficult to secure their assent to any arrangement arrived at without even their formal cooperation.

Certain Facts About Russia. It is necessary to remind ourselves of certain elementary facts about Germany and Russia and their position in the world today. They are facts which, in the knowledge of all, and yet they seem to be astonishingly forgotten in very much of the discussion of the Washington conference.

First let us recall certain points about Germany. The German people occupy the most central position in Europe; they exceed in numbers any other European people except the Russians; their educational level has been as high or higher than any other people in the world; they are, as a people, honest, industrious, and intelligent; upon their social and political well-being and economic prosperity the prosperity of Britain, Scandinavia, Russia, Italy—and, in a lesser degree, France—depends.

Cannot Destroy Germany Today. It is impossible to destroy such a people, it is impossible to wipe them off the map, but it is possible to ruin them economically and socially. And if Germany is ruined most of Europe is ruined.

Germany has been overthrown in a great war, and it will be well to recall here certain elementary facts about that war. Under a particularly aggressive and offensive imperialist system the Germans were plunged into conflict with most of the rest of the civilized world. But it was repeatedly declared by the British and by the Americans, if not by others of the combatants, that they fought not against the German people but against this German imperialism.

The British war propaganda in particular did its utmost to saturate Germany with that assurance and to hold out the promise of generous treatment and a complete restoration of friendship provided there was a German renunciation of imperialism and militarism.

Germany, exhausted and beaten, surrendered in 1918 upon the strength of these promises and upon the similar promises implied in President Wilson's fourteen points. The declared ends of the war had been achieved. The Kaiser booted, and Germany repented of him publicly and unequivocally.

But the conference at Versailles treated these promises that had been made to Germany as mere "scrap of paper." The peace imposed upon the young German republic was a punitive peace, exactly as punitive as though there were still a Kaiser in Berlin: it was a vindictive reversal of the Franco-Germany treaty of 1871 without a shred of recognition or tolerance for the chastened Germany that faced her conquerors.

The Germans were dealt with as a race of moral monsters, though no one in his senses really believes they are very different, man for man, from English, French, or American people; every German was held to be individually responsible for the war, though every Frenchman, Englishman, and American knows that when one's country fights one has to fight, and it is quite natural to fight for it whether it is in the right or nag and a sustained attack of oppressive occupations, dismemberment, and impossible demands was begun and still goes on upon the shattered German civilization—which is at least as vitally necessary to the world as the French.

Kicking a Prostrate Enemy. The British and French nationalists press openly today that they do not intend to give Germany a chance of recovery. The European Allies have now been kicking the prostrate body of Germany for three years; in a little while they will be kicking a dead body; and, since they are linked geographically to their victim almost as closely as the Siamese twins were linked together, they will share that victim's decay.

It is high time that this barbaric insanity, this prolongation of the combat after surrender, should cease and that the best minds and wills of Germany and the very reasonable republican government she has set up for herself should be called into consultation. I could wish that Washington could so far rise above Versailles as presently make that invitation. Sooner or later it will have to be made if the peace of the world is to be secured.

The absence of Russia from the Washington conference is an even graver weakness. People seem to have forgotten altogether how the Russians bore the brunt of the opening years of the great war. Their rapid defeat of the little British army from a disastrous retreat to the sea. The debt of gratitude Britain and France owe to Russia's Unknown Warrior, that poor unhonored hero and martyr, is incalculable.

Incredible Heroism of Russians. But for Russia, Germany would probably have won the war outright before the end of 1918. It was the blood and suffering of the Russian people that saved victory for the allies; those incredible soldiers fought often without artillery support, without five ammunition, without boots or food, under conditions almost inconceivable to the well supplied French and British and Americans of the western front.

And their tale of killed and wounded exceeds enormously that of any other combatant. In 1917 Russia collapsed; she was bled white, and she remained collapsed in spite of the sedulous kicking of her allies to rouse her to further efforts. The intolerable Rasputin, czarism went down in the disaster.

After a phase of extreme disorder, and very largely because of the British hesitation to support the Kerensky government by bold naval action in the Baltic, the hard, tyrannous 'doctrinaire government of the bolsheviks took control.

That government is a bad government; its faults are indeed of a different order, but on the whole, I will admit, it is almost as bad as the former czarist government it superseded. Yet let us remember certain plain facts about it.

Roten Rule, but It Endures. It has remained in power to this day because it is a Russian-speaking government, standing for a whole and undivided Russia, and the Russian people support it because it has defended Russia against the subsidized raiders of France and Britain, against the Poles, and against the Estonians and against the Japanese, and against every sort of outside interference with their prostrate country.

They prefer fanatics to foreigners and bolsheviks to brigands. Frenchmen or Americans in the same horrible position would probably make the same choice. The entente, the Poles, a miscellany of adventurers, have given the Russians no breathing time to deal with their own government in their own fashion.

And now, caught by the misadventure of an unprecedented drought, millions of Russians in the regions disorganized by Kolchak, and Denikin, and Wrangel, are starving to death—while Canada and America have wheat and corn to burn. There is even food to spare in some parts of Russia, but no adequate means of getting it to the starving provinces without outside assistance.

Consider what the future must hold for this great people, and mark the amazing folly of the insults and evils we heap upon their land. Look it up its face, is now extraordinarily anxious for recognition from and dealings with the western governments. I do not see why the western governments, having regard to the needs of Russia, should try to outdo the bolsheviks in obstinacy, pederasty, and cruelty, nor why they should not make an honest attempt to get along with the de facto government until it develops naturally into something else.

Quick Peace Is Indispensable. For such a government only a rough working peace is wanted. Given that, and a release from impossible debts, Russia, relieved forever from the black curse of czarism, will go right on to become a land of restored cultivation, of resuscitated mines, and presently of reawakening towns, a democratic land of common people more like the free, poor, farming, prospecting and developing United States of 1840 than anything else in history.

So long as Russia suffers the bolshevik government I think Washington ought to suffer it, but perhaps in that opinion I go beyond the possibilities of the case. Then I suggest that at least Washington ought to set up some well informed lawyer, some busy, ready-witted lawyer, some busy advocate at the conference. If Russia is not to be allowed a vote in the decision of things, let her at least be heard.

Amazing Folly of Insults. Consider what the future must hold for this great people, and mark the amazing folly of the insults and evils we heap upon their land. Look it up

Proof of Moscow's Solidarity. Their magnificent resistance to outside interference since 1917 and their toleration of the bolshevik government when division would have been as fatal to them as it has been to China, is a proof of their solidarity and instinctive political wisdom. There are many Russians as there are people in the United States of America, and they occupy an area as great and far richer in undeveloped resources.

In spite of the monstrous czarist government which treated elementary education as an offense against the state, the prose literature, the drama, the music, the pictorial art—even the science of the Russians during the last hundred years—all this compares favorably with that of the United States. These Russians are indeed one of the very greatest of peoples, and they have survived tragic experiences that might well have destroyed any other race. And Washington, I gather, proposes to settle the peace of Europe, Asia, and the Pacific without them.

Admits We May Be Right. There is, I know, a very strong case to excuse Washington from sending an invitation to the existing Russian government. I would be the last person in the world to minimize the difficulties the bolshevik government puts in the way of any fair dealings with the western powers; it is bound by its communist theory not to recognize them fairly and to make gestures of preparation for their overthrow.

In addition to its general theoretical obduracy Moscow is also afflicted with a particularly obdurate, pedantic, argumentative, and disastrous foreign minister, Chicherin. But practical necessity knows no theories and the bolshevik government, if only it can save in an atlas or encyclopedia. Measure what it is we ignore. In a score of years Russia may be a resurgent land as vigorous as the United States in 1840. In a century she may be as great and powerful and civilized as any state on earth.

For such powers as France and Britain and Japan to sit in council upon the fate of the world without her is as if, in the dark years of 1863 and 1864 they had sat in council upon the future of America without the United States. Indeed, something of the sort did happen in those dark years; France, I recall, sent troops and munitions into Mexico, as recently she has sent them into Poland and South Russia.

Grave of White Hopes. And somewhere in the world there is a grave, the grave of a "white hope," a reactionary puppet who was to have restored Mexico to the European system—the friend of the Emperor Napoleon III, the Emperor Maximilian.

When I was a small boy learning the rudiments of geography the earth was presented to me in two hemispheres, the old world and the new. Not once or twice only has America vindicated her right to that title. Will Washington confirm that great tradition and open a way of escape now from the tangled narrowness of Versailles? Are Germany and Russia to perish amid the incurable quarrels of the old world or find their salvation in the new?

The fourth article by Mr. Wells is expected for publication Saturday morning.

POPE APPROVES HARDING'S PLAN TO LIMIT ARMS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[By the Associated Press.]—Pope Benedict approves President Harding's plan to bring about the limitation of armaments by common understanding among the nations.

The attitude of the holy see is considered of great importance in securing to the conference the support of one of the greatest moral and spiritual powers in the world.

Mr. Bonzano, apostolic delegate in Washington, will follow the proceedings and report them to the Vatican. Mr. Bonzano is regarded by the Vatican as one of its most distinguished representatives and especially fitted to follow the conference, as he is thoroughly familiar with the problems of the far east.

The Rome correspondent of the Associated Press understands that the pope claims a priority in the movement for limitation of armaments, which he hopes will lead to disarmament altogether. His peace note of Aug. 1, 1917, to all the belligerent powers urged them to agree on some fundamental principles to end the war and lead to just and lasting peace.

The attitude of the holy see is considered of great importance in securing to the conference the support of one of the greatest moral and spiritual powers in the world.

Mr. Bonzano, apostolic delegate in Washington, will follow the proceedings and report them to the Vatican. Mr. Bonzano is regarded by the Vatican as one of its most distinguished representatives and especially fitted to follow the conference, as he is thoroughly familiar with the problems of the far east.

The Rome correspondent of the Associated Press understands that the pope claims a priority in the movement for limitation of armaments, which he hopes will lead to disarmament altogether. His peace note of Aug. 1, 1917, to all the belligerent powers urged them to agree on some fundamental principles to end the war and lead to just and lasting peace.

NATION'S KNOWN GREAT HONOR ITS GREAT UNKNOWNWreath Body in Flowers in Silent Ceremony.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—America's unknown soldier came home today.

Tonight in the rotunda of the Capitol, he is resting, his life work triumphantly accomplished, under the folds of his flag and the flowers placed upon it by the President, the vice president, and the chief justice of the supreme court, five of his comrades kept the last watch with him, and kneeling from the walls by the statues of Washington and Lafayette, of Jefferson, Grant, and Lincoln.

For hours, in spite of lowering skies and rain, crowds of his fellow citizens gathered on the wind swept place outside, had waited for him. Inside the great hall those privileged to await him there lined the walls and watched through the open doorway the rain falling across the east front and the electric flashing through the gathering darkness.

Accorded by Nation's Leaders.

It was nearly 5 o'clock, when the soldier came. Into the great silent chamber, floated the faint notes of the "March Christian Soldiers," then came the measured tramp of marching men, the rattle of arms as the troops outside came to attention. It was very still in the rotunda in the center of which stood the catafalque, with the five soldiers of the honor guard drawn up beside it.

Then up the wide east steps and into the hall he came borne by eight of his comrades and preceded by the secretary of war, the secretary of the navy, Gen. Pershing, and Gen. Lejeune. The soldiers lining the walls came to the salute, so did every service man in the room. Through the great silent rotunda the eight soldiers bore their corpse, and placed his flag-draped casket on the catafalque, which had borne in turn the remains of three martyred Presidents, Lincoln, Garfield, and McKinley.

Absolute Silence Impressive.

The body bearers stepped back, saluted, wheeled and retired. The five men of the honor guard broke line, stepped forward and took up their positions at each of the four corners of the platform on which the catafalque stood and the fifth a few paces from the foot of the coffin.

There was absolute silence in the great room. No one moved, no word was spoken. Around the body of the soldier the five boys of his honor guard stood at parade rest, an officer advanced and pinned on the flag at the head of the coffin the badge of the Legion of Honor conferred by the French government when the soldier began his journey home. Other soldiers brought in and placed around the room the wreaths which had covered his coffin on the way.

President's Wife Lays Wreath.

Mrs. Harding placed across the coffin a broad white ribbon, and on it the President laid a great wreath of dark red roses. Vice President Coolidge and Speaker Gillett lifted and put at the head another great wreath of pink and white roses, and William Howard Taft, former President and present chief justice, placed a wreath of pink roses and chrysanthemums at the foot.

Secretary of War Weeks rested a wreath against the head of the catafalque and Gen. Pershing, advancing with another, placed it against the side, stepped back and stood for a long moment at the salute. Secretary of the Navy Denby placed the navy's floral tribute at the foot.

The President and Mrs. Harding, whose entrance had been the signal for the battery of photographers and motion picture men at the left of the chamber to get into action, stepped back and slowly left the room. The groups around the walls broke up. The motion picture men moved up and began taking pictures from every angle. But the five boys around the coffin paid no attention. They stood, immovable, with bent heads, the flashlights glancing across their grave young faces. By 6 o'clock every one else had gone and they were alone with the soldier.

BIG STRIKE IN ROME.

ROME, Nov. 9.—The chamber of labor today decided to proclaim a general strike in Rome because of difficulties between railway workers and the fascists, or extreme nationalists.

CELEBRATIONS TO DOT CHICAGO ON ARMISTICE DAYLegion Posts Announce Special Programs.

Chicago, as a municipality, will have no set program for celebration of Armistice day tomorrow. It will, however, pause in its rush for sixty seconds, in which a medley of sentiment will be expressed—reverence for the dead and unnamed; honor for the ideals capped by victory and joy.

At 11 o'clock tomorrow morning traffic will cease. Motorists will stop. Literally the city's wheels will cease to go round—for one minute. A proclamation by the mayor yesterday announced that this custom, practiced twice before on Armistice day, would prevail tomorrow.

Stores to Remain Open.

The public schools will be closed. So will the offices in the federal building, and the ex-service men in the city hall will be given a holiday. There will be "nothing doing" on the Board of Trade or the Stock Exchange, but the stores of the city will remain open. Although Chicago en masse will not celebrate, numerous notable programs have been arranged. Practically every post of the American Legion in the city will observe the day fittingly. There will be private and semi-public celebrations in many of the parks, including a special drill in Welles park of the Lake View High school cadets, who will stand at "parade rest" at 11 o'clock, facing the east for two minutes.

The Chicago Federation of Labor has arranged for a notable celebration in Car Men's hall, Ashland boulevard and Van Buren street, to which the public will be welcome.

Lucien Muratore of the Chicago Opera company will sing soon after the opening of the meeting at 8 p. m. Mary Garden and Samuel Gompers have been invited to participate, and addresses will be made by Jane Addams of Hull house, John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation, and Raymond Robins, formerly in charge of American Red Cross activities in Russia.

Legion's Plans for Day.

The American Legion posts, instead of combining, will hold separate celebrations tomorrow. State Commander William R. McCauley and State Adjutant William Q. Settle will speak at Edwardsville in the morning and at a mass meeting at Alton in the afternoon. Several hundred patients at the Drexel Boulevard hospital will be guests of Hyde Park post at a dinner at the Chicago Beach hotel.

In the main hall of the City club, members of the Blackhawk post will hold a memorial for Maj. Gen. Barry. Senior Vice Commander Charles W. Schick will be in charge of a celebration in Grant park in memory of the sailors who lost their lives in the war.

HERE ARE PLANS FOR ARMISTICE TREE PLANTINGScores of Cities to Have Programs.

BY LEOA ALLARD.

The following incomplete list of Memory Tree plantings for tomorrow, Armistice day, is given that those who wish to attend the services at the plantings may choose the one nearest home.

The cities between Milwaukee and Chicago plant their community trees at 10 o'clock in the morning, all cities to go to the Wisconsin-Illinois state line at 3 o'clock in the afternoon to attend the interstate planting.

The Milwaukee electric line will run special cars from Waukegan at 2 o'clock, and the Illinoisans are asked to meet at Waukegan and go with the delegations unless they are driving from a nearer point. Zion City's band will make its appearance at this planting, which is just north of Zion City.

Roosevelt post, American Legion, 311th engineers, 108th engineers, and Gold Star mothers. Planting at Edward Hines Jr. hospital, 2 o'clock. Drive into northwest hospital entrance and turn east. In charge of H. B. Mundt of legion. Speakers: The Rev. George McCarthy, Clayton F. Smith, Judge Landis, James A. Kerns, Col. Edward J. Blair, and Col. M. O. Kason.

Kiwanis clubs of Illinois and Wisconsin—Planting at state line, north of Zion City, at 3 p. m., assisted by twenty-four other community organizations. In charge of Daniel Wentworth and James Welch of Waukegan. Charles S. Deneen will speak.

Waukegan road, at Niles—Planting of 205 trees at 10:30 a. m., in charge of Edward Hurck, commissioner western division, Boy Scouts, and Chicago council Gold Star mothers. Drive to Niles and north about a mile on new Waukegan military road.

Lawndale-Crawford post American Legion—Parade at 2 p. m. and celebration at 2:30 at 19th street entrance to Douglas park. Trees planted to three ards of service, soldiers, sailors, and marines.

Great Lakes—Planting of 500 trees on Green Bay road, north from Lake Bluff, in charge of Capt. D. W. Wurtebaugh, commandant.

Fort Sheridan—Planting of 500 trees south of fort, leaving ten miles between two memory roads for Memorial day planting.

Portage Park Women's club—3 p. m., planting of twenty foot elms to memory of all world war soldiers of Portage Park, to be assisted by 1,000 school children, in charge of Mrs. Nicholas J. Schaack.

Chicago order of B. P. O. E.—Planting in morning of memory tree at grave of each Elk who died in service. Armistice day celebration at club in the evening.

Wheaton post, American Legion, and community representatives complete planting of 500 trees on Roosevelt road. Celebration deferred till Memorial day because of absence of committee members. In charge of Commander Gail Reed, American Legion.

Harrison Technical High school—At 2:30 p. m., planting of first big tree to memory of school heroes. One tree to be planted every year for nine years for none soldiers.

Waukegan—Kiwanis in charge, led by James Welch. First tree on Milwaukee-Chicago road dedicated to Waukegan aviator who gave his life in the war, at 10 a. m.

George Alexander McKillop post, American Legion, Lake Forest, plants double row American elms at 8 a. m. In charge of Mayor Henry H. Bummer; high school band, assisted by Lake Forest college.

Henrici's for Breakfast

In the country, active men are benefited by the fact that they are up and around for an hour or more before breakfast, whereas many city men arise, hurry through a breakfast for which they are not physically ready, and start for their offices on a short-time schedule.

As a matter of salutary custom, many a business man might better postpone breakfast until he has arrived down town.

Why not Henrici's for breakfast?

HYLAN'S EASY WIN.

John F. Hyland, Tammany's mayor, was given his reflection on a silver platter and the coalition opposition furnished the platter. If political machines could create their own opposition they would create such as that with which Hyland had to deal.Hyland's enemies were preparing for his reelection when the Republican legislature under a Republican governor began with ripper legislation to attack what remains of local self-government.
There are in New York, to interfere with traction, to interfere with the police, and to say that the wettest city in the country should answer to Albany for its sins.New York has a 5 cent fare. It may not rest on the soundest financial basis, but the New Yorker pays 5 cents and he has rapid transit. When the state sought to interfere in this many citizens whose political ideals would drive them away from Hyland and his supporters conscientiously opposed what they thought was a greater evil.Citizens who do not trouble themselves much about political ideals, but who know what they want, were sealed for Hyland by the same master stroke of opposition, and the coalition candidate, a man of probity but with none of the energetic qualities of public leadership which could inspire enthusiasm or confidence, was backed into the seemingly of favoring big interests against popular rights.The coalition might just as well have defaulted right there. To fight a demagogue by putting the popular issues in his hands, and then making futile marginal attacks on him is the way to political rout. The coalition was in full retreat before it had started.It could not prove that Hyland was a municipal misfortune. It kept on proving that he was about the mayor the average New Yorker wanted. It subjected itself to suspicion which it could not dispel by the energy of its candidate or the con-structiveness of its program.Reform along such lines is merely meat and potatoes for a well organized political machine.NEXT WEEK, CHICAGO'S OPERA.Next Monday Chicago's grand opera company will begin the home season of ten weeks. This will be the first season under the directorship of Misty Gardén, who though she was given charge last season was then necessarily limited by the commitments of her predecessor. The season of 1921-22 will be wholly hers so far as the responsibilities of directorship extend, and one of the most interesting and momentous of its aspects will be the demonstration of her abilities in this new role. As actress and singer Miss Gardén has reached the front rank. She has now a new world to conquer. While she will appear in several of her most popular roles, it is as the director of the season that her possibilities will be tested to the utmost. Last season her influence, we think, was immediately felt, and from that effect and the exhibition of her remarkable creative talents in great operatic roles there is good reason to expect that the Chicago opera company will attain a higher level of excellence than it has held in the past, high as that level has been from the first.The season is to be a test in a still more important respect. It is the last for which the long continued generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mc-Cormick is the conclusive guaranty. It is upon this generosity that the Chicago opera was founded and made possible in spite of heavy deficits.
After this season the opera must be maintained on a broader basis of support, as it should be.
Mr. and Mrs. McCormick will doubtless continue to contribute to its support, but they will not be called upon to bear the disproportionate burden they have in the past.This should make for the welfare of the opera.
We say this with full appreciation of the generosity of all those who have borne the burden up to this time. But the opera is a benefit to the whole community and should be democratically maintained. In recognition of this fact the Association of Commerce took up the problem of creating a guaranty fund for a period of five years by appealing to people of means and to the general business interests of the city. This appeal, in spite of difficult conditions, has been well received.
But its complete success is not enough. The general public is needed, not merely to help pay expenses but to supply the appreciative response essential to spirited performances.In short, the effort of the Opera association is to make grand opera a popular institution in this city, so that it may express Chicago as a great city and be a civilized resource to the community as a whole.Grand opera has been an expensive luxury on the basis of private endowment, but it is the hope of the association that, efficiently managed, as it is now managed by Miss Gardén, Mr. Spangler, and the opera directors, it will gain such support from the public as to win a place permanently among our popular resources of culture and entertainment. The price of a season seat, one a week for ten weeks, is at its lowest little above the price charged by the better class of movies.
That is to say, by subscription, 75 cents and a dollar for second gallery seats, $1.50 and $1 for seats in the first gallery. This is within the means of wage workers and students. On all the great nights, when the most popular stars appear, these seats are filled. But Miss Gardén's effort has been to keep all performances on a high level, and it is hoped that the popular appeal of each opera on the list, which is made up of favorites of all schools, will keep the Auditorium well filled throughout the season. If this can be accomplished grand opera will be established permanently on a broad base of popular favor, whereit ought to rest. If it is not, Chicago will lose an institution of which it ought to be proud and a resource of pleasure and profit for all the public seeking the best entertainment.EUROPE MUST PULL HERSELF TOGETHER.It is time to stop all the loose talk about the cancellation of European debts and the prospective destruction of civilization. Unless the latter is subtle propaganda in support of the former, it is the outpouring of hysterical weaklings which works in well with the wily statesmen and financiers who believed in the integrity of obligations when these were owned in their hemisphere but debiletté in them when the credit is on the other side of the Atlantic.Europe is not prosperous, admittedly, but Europe is better off than she has been following any of her great wars. Nothing in Germany today remotely resembles the shambles and the devastation which followed the religious wars or the condition after Frederick II. had fought his Russian, Austrian, and French enemies in most of the kingdoms that form the German empire.Nothing that happened in Europe during the great war compares with the rapine of fire and sword which Napoleon carried to Berlin, to Moscow, to Vienna, and to Madrid, and which the victorious allies carried to Paris.
Europe's troubles are small compared to those of the thirteen American colonies ravished by British and Hessian troops, freed from the tyranny of the parent country but without organized government of their own, without a fiscal system, without communications, and with undeveloped natural resources.From all the catastrophes above mentioned the victims rallied with reasonable celerity to infinitely better conditions than those which had preceded them.
In the same way modern Europe will rally from her present despondency, which, indeed, is more psychological than actual; but she will not rally, nor begin to rally, until she frees herself from the delusion that honest prosperity can be built on dishonorable repudiation, and that a virile civilization can be founded on the cowardly evasion of unpleasant truths."BIG TIM" MURPHY'S CONVICTION.The verdict of a jury in the court of Federal Judge Landis finding "Big Tim" Murphy and some of his associates guilty of conspiracy to rob the mails, and guilty of having in his possession stolen government property, seems to indicate that Murphy is a criminal even in Cook county.
For years Murphy has been indicating that he was outside the law here. He has been notorious as a slugging and gunman. At one time he even shot his own brother. He has been accused and escaped charges of automobile thefts and other robberies. His most notorious difficulty was his arrest on the charge of murdering "Mossy" Enright, a rival gunman labor leader. He avoided any penalty in that case, except a few weeks' incarceration while awaiting trial, because witnesses against him vanished. He has ruled the street sweepers and gas workers' labor unions with an iron hand. His police record is long and dark.
But he has served a term in the legislature, has proved himself a power in the rough politics "back of the yards," and has come clear, if not clean, up to the present.His repeated escapes from incriminating entanglements have been so numerous as almost to justify the belief that he was immune from the consequences of acts which would put ordinary citizens, lacking political pull and organization for defense, in jail. No private citizen could acquire a record as bad as Murphy's without intimate contact with crime and criminals.
Now this conviction has been proved, making him liable to six years in jail and fines of $50,000. To be sure this conviction was not brought about by local authorities, but it was obtained in Cook county. It shows the limitation of corrupt protection.
It indicates that there is a line over which even the immune cannot step with impunity. If that line can be drawn by federal authorities it ought to be drawn even more closely by local authorities.
The lesson of this conviction should be taken to heart by local criminals and local politicians as well as by local criminals.

Editorial of the Day

BUNK IN POLITICAL CAMPAIGNS.
[From the Daily News, New York's picture paper, which is under the same management as The Tribune.]
The campaign just closed has not been fought fairly.
More than the average amount of bunk has been employed by both sides. Curran's charge that Hyland ought to be defeated because Hearst's backer, came from California was merely silly.
The dragging in of Hearst's name in connection with the assassination of McKinley was ill-advised and unfair. Hearst was politically opposed to McKinley. He had a right to criticize him. That he did so with the aid and violence of youth was to be expected. The fact that no evidence was ever adduced to show that the murderer was swayed by anything in the Hearst papers should have acquitted Hearst once and for all of the charges that were made by his enemies.
The New York Tribune has, in the past campaign, assailed Hyland as violently as Hearst ever assailed McKinley. It would be as fair to blame the Tribune if some crank should attack Hyland as to blame Hearst for the McKinley tragedy.On the other side the Hearst newspapers have contributed their share of bunk.
On the eve of election day they urged their readers to vote for Hyland on the sole ground that the New York Central, the Consolidated Gas company, the Interborough, the B. R. T., and other corporations were for Curran.
This is not argument. It is dangerous nonsense.
Private initiative has made this city. It has built its subways, given it gas and electric lighting, provided it with railroad transportation and with the financial institutions that enable the whole country to do business. Perhaps in some far future day this may be done by municipalities. It never has been heretofore.
It could not possibly be done by them now.
Public service corporations may be grasping. But they are business necessities. Without them we should be as Russia has been since Lenin and Trotsky, transferring heart logic into action, drove capital from that unhappy country and permitted anarchy and famine to take its place.The way to handle capital is to harness it, not destroy it. It is to be trusted that Mr. Hyland will not take this Hearst course seriously.
Should he do as his newspaper mentor suggests, we should soon have 3,000,000 instead of 300,000 unemployed. Within a year this city would be another Petograd.
Candidates and newspapers could have told the truth in this campaign had they chosen to do so.
The 5 cent fare issue was enough for Hearst. The Tammany issue was enough for Curran.
Instead, both went far afield into the realms of free-for-all abuse and baseless charges. Both were hurt.
Neither profited.
If the public is ever to understand its government, it must have truth, and not campaign bunk.
In future elections, as in this one, The News will try to tell the truth, and nothing but the truth.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to Line, let the quips fall where they may.At the age of 90 Mrs. Tajima has journeyed to America to bring to President Harding a peace message from the women of her country. "Behind this petition are vast spiritual resources; it represents the mobilization of thousands of hearts."

FOR PEACE.

From cherry blossom land she comes,
A little woman quaint and old,
Risking her all that she may bring A gift of peace and love and hold:
"One hundred thousand women hearts
Petitioning for Peace!"No gifts she asks nor favors craves, Nor mandate brings for wars to cease,
From where "hearts mobilized" await,
She comes—a humble dove of peace,
"One hundred thousand women hearts
Petitioning for Peace!"In this vast land we do less Than "mobilize our hearts," as they,
The little women of Japan?
And kneel with them and bravely pray?
An army of the spirit, thus, Petitioning for Peace! E. O. B.THE traveling man from Milwaukee was in search of a new state at Chicago, Ill. He accosted a native: "Can you tell me, please, where I can thing you can get now is the Illinois State." F. W. D."A FOREGONE FUTILITY," writes Mr. Wells. A phrase to linger over, whether or not one agrees with him. We will lay two quids to a German mark that Mr. Wells scores a typewriter and writes with to the cancellation of Europe's war indebtedness if we can be assured a split with the Washington bellhops and hotelkeepers after the arms confab.ONE of Mr. Harding's admirable traits is that he is a good listener. He is willing to accept, and act upon, advice—from his friends. Mr. Wilson ordered things differently in France.SONG.

June is now far away,
Dark days have come,
Blue skies are changed to gray.
Bird throats are dumb.Sol laves his armor by,
Leaves lose their gold;
Too soon their wrath shall lie Buried in mold.Sad is my heart—and yet
Why should I weep?
Could Spring her task forget?
Let the leaves sleep.They will find wings again,
Glad birds will sing;
Last in the cold and rain
May's burgeoning! T. C. C."I WISH," sniffs Georgeette, "to challenge J. M.
M's statement that there are more Indians in the United States today than there were in the sixteenth century." Go right to it, my dear. Have you your statistics handy?Unsubstantiated.

served that she carried a rusty trench helmet—tin derbies, they used to call them.OUR staff of experts is ever on the alert to set the right on the little matters that mean so much to the ordinary citizen. The story captioned seventy-five years or more," writes:The article, it seems, was written by some

BREITUNG FREED BY N. Y. JUDGE IN VAGRANCY CASE

First to Be Tried Under New Moral Code.

New York, Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Edward N. Breitung, multimillionaire, formerly of Chicago, was discharged by Judge Rittenberg in Yorkville court today on the charge of vagrancy which grew out of a raid on an apartment at 610 Madison avenue last July maintained by Mrs. Nellie Kift, formerly of Chicago.

Following the police raid, two young women in whose room the banker was found were convicted of maintaining a disorderly resort.

First Under New Law. Breitung's arrest, which was said to have been brought about by Magistrate Jean Norris of the Women's court, was the first to take place after the code of criminal procedure had been amended so as to include men as well as women under the head of "vagrants."

In his decision, which filled twenty pages, Magistrate Rittenberg contended that the testimony of the two policemen, who found the banker scantily garbed with the two young women, did not indicate a violation of Section 887, Subdivision 4, of the code, with which Breitung was charged.

Not Immoral for Profit. "The intention of the legislature, it would seem from a careful reading of this statute," the court ruled, "was to classify and punish as vagrants persons of both sexes who either did nothing to earn a living or who earned their living in a disreputable way. Those who violate Clause 1, Subdivision 4, are those who assist or take part in the business of procuring people for immoral acts. The statute does not concern itself with people who have reputable employment and do not make a profit or a business out of immorality, but who are simply immoral."

Breitung was on hand when the decision was rendered today.

CHICAGO FOOD PRICES TUMBLE 2% IN 30 DAYS

Retail prices of food in Chicago declined 2 per cent in the month ending Oct. 15, the federal bureau of labor statistics reported last night. During the year period, Oct. 15, 1920, to Oct. 15, 1921, the decrease in food prices is given as 23 per cent. The same figure applies to Milwaukee, Peoria, and Indianapolis.

As compared with average retail cost of food in 1913, the Chicago average is given as 53 per cent. In Detroit the increase over 1913 stands at 54 per cent; St. Louis, 53 per cent; Milwaukee, 52 per cent; Indianapolis and Minneapolis, 47 per cent.

COP INDICTED IN WHISKY TRAFFIC CASE IS MISSING

A capias demanding appearance in court of Sergt. Edward Smale of the Deering police station, indicted by the federal grand jury last week, was placed in the hands of deputy marshals late yesterday. This action was taken when, after waiting more than a week for the policeman to appear to give bond, it was announced he could not be found.

Sergts. Smale, Thomas Carlisle, and Edward Mitchell were arrested some weeks ago for violation of the prohibition law. They were accused of stealing 215 cases of whisky from a south side trucking company. Smale also was arrested on charges of intimidating government witnesses.

After the indictments were returned, Mitchell and Carlisle put up bonds of $20,000 each. They denied knowledge of Smale's whereabouts.

TRACTION CASE LEFT IN HANDS OF SUPREME COURT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Arguments in the Chicago traction case were concluded in the Supreme court today. The court took the case under advisement and will give its decision within the next two or three months.

Harry P. Weber summed up the arguments for the traction company as follows:

"First—The rights asserted by the city are based upon the construction of the Illinois constitution and statutes, which presents merely a question of local law, as to which the decision of the Illinois Supreme court will be accepted by this court as controlling."

"Second—Even upon an independent construction by this court of that constitution and those statutes, the doctrine of the Home Telephone case would lead to a decision in accord with that of the Illinois court."

"Third—The assertion by the city of a right as a state agency against an interference with that right by the state presents no case under the contract clause of the federal constitution."

until she could see Attorney Charles Erbelein.

Erbelein was busy preparing a fight in the appellate court for a writ of mandamus to compel Judge Reeve to give Mrs. Obenchain an immediate trial. Erbelein is not now anxious to have his client go before the grand jury. The motion to dismiss has been denied and the motion to try her immediately has been denied, leaving no reason why she should go before the jury.

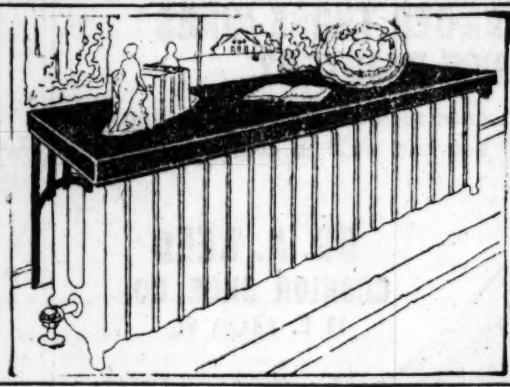

Although Judge Reeve set Nov. 23 for the trial of both Madelynn and Arthur C. Burch, it will be after Christmas, it is stated, before Madelynn is tried—unless Erbelein obtains his writ of mandamus. Burch will be tried first. Prosecutor Woolwine says his trial will take at least four weeks.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Mrs. Madelynn Connor Obenchain, doomed by Judge Reeve's decision of yesterday to spend at least six weeks more in jail, was invited for the second time today to tell the grand jury she knows about the slaying of J. Belton Kenney but declined today.

Humidity Means Health

A noted health expert said recently: "Moisture is nature's great big bed blanket to keep her children warm. Take the blanket away or 'thin it out' and we all get cold. Without moisture we cannot live."

"TRICO" Radiator Covers are humidity shields that introduce the proper moisture into heated rooms. The moisture pan extends the full length of the radiator and is so constructed that the hot air passes through perforations and over the water's surface, carrying the rising vapor through the front aperture, where it mixes with the hot air. It is entirely concealed by the art metal top. With "TRICO" you need less heat, yet you feel warmer and stay far healthier.

"TRICO" Covers are beautifully finished to harmonize with your decorations. The handsome top makes every radiator into a useful seat or shelf. They also protect walls and draperies from becoming blackened and streaked above your radiators.

You can see "TRICO" covers at the Building Material Exhibit, Sixth floor Leiter Bldg., Cor. State and Van Buren. Phone or write us for full particulars. Let us show you why "TRICO" keeps you healthy all winter.

A Voice that Carries 3,000 Miles

THE TELEPHONE is one of the marvels of the age. You can talk from New York to San Francisco as easily as from your home to your office. You can even talk to ships at sea.

There is scarcely a family or a business today, from one end of this country to the other, that is not equipped with a telephone. The novelty of a few years ago has become a necessity.

Because of the steady and practically universal demand for their service, the telephone companies are not subject to sudden changes in earning power, as are many other lines of business. An examination of the record of the leading telephone companies over a period of years will show a constant growth in business and earnings. On this account bonds of these companies when properly safeguarded and passed upon by a responsible banking house are among the safest investments on the market today.

Get Away This Winter!

Get away from business and household responsibilities, care and worry. Get out into the glorious, semi-tropical atmosphere of California, where health, rest, comfort and delightful outdoor activities await you—amidst the flowers and orange blossoms beside the blue Pacific. 'Twill do you a world of good! If your neighbor has been there, ask him—he knows.

Be sure you make the most of the trip, however, and see Denver, Colorado Springs, Pike's Peak, Pueblo, the Royal Gorge, scenic Colorado, Salt Lake City and the Feather River Canyon through the Sierra Nevada Range—in daylight.

For the accommodation and convenience of Burlington patrons, the 11:00 p.m. train carries through sleeping cars daily, via this premier scenic route, direct to San Francisco—connecting service from Salt Lake City via the short line to Los Angeles. A delightfully easy, care-free trip—takes a little longer, but it costs no more and is "The Route Beyond Compare If You Have Time to Spare."

Reduced-rate round-trip tickets are now on sale daily to California—long limits, liberal stop-over privileges—go one way and return via an entirely different route.

Deducting the cost of remaining at home and considering the price of things generally, you'll be surprised how reasonably the trip can be made—especially when you contemplate what this will mean to you and remember that a life which isn't pleasantly spent isn't well spent. Think it over!

Better let me make your reservations well in advance.

RAILROAD LABOR BOARD CUTS PAY ON SHORT LINE

With two members dissenting, the United States railroad labor board has rendered a decision that may prove a precedent for the additional wage reductions railway officials are seeking. The decision was reached just after the threatened rail strike had been averted, but was made public only yesterday. It reduces the pay of train service men on the New Orleans and Great Northern railway, a southern short line, to the scale in effect before the increases authorized in May, 1920. The pay of shop crafts and roundhouse employees also was materially reduced, but in varying degrees.

Refuse to Comment.
Board members declined to say whether this may be regarded as an indication as to what action it will take in cases of trunk lines involving proposals for additional wage cuts.

The New Orleans and Great Northern, operating in Louisiana and Mississippi, was not a party to the decision which, effective July 1, reduced the pay of railway employees 12 per cent. It has comparatively few employees, its main lines between Jackson and New Orleans being about 275 miles long.

Decision Was Withheld.
Yesterday's decision, it became known, was withheld because of fears it would be so misinterpreted as to cause a "runaway" railway wage strike. It was granted upon testimony alleging the southern road suffered an operating loss of $500,000 in 1920, and showed a further deficit of $85,000 for the first six months of 1921. Other exhibits tended to show cost of living had decreased about 35 per cent in the territory from the cost of July, 1920.

W. L. McMenimen and A. O. Wharum are the labor members who dissented.

POLICEMAN SHOT AS HE DRAWS WEAPON AT TARGET PRACTICE

In pulling his gun from its holster during the police revolver contest at the Second regiment armory yesterday, Patrolman Raymond H. Colson of the Lawndale station accidentally shot himself.

Colson was about to take part in the timed fire trials, and had cocked his revolver before placing it in the holster. In drawing it out quickly to shoot at the target he inadvertently pressed the trigger. The bullet entered the left thigh and passed out just above the knee. He was taken to the county hospital.

PRISON GATES OPEN FOR MISS GRACE A. LUSK

Madison, Wis., Nov. 9.—Grace A. Lusk, Waukesha school teacher, serving nineteen years in prison for the murder of Mrs. David Roberts in 1917, as the climax of a love triangle, was granted a temporary release from the state penitentiary today by Gov. Blaine.

She will leave the prison to receive surgical treatment which, the governor says, is necessary to save her life. Action on her application for a pardon will be deferred until the result of the treatment is known.

"Grace Lusk should receive the consideration due her because of her illness," Gov. Blaine says in a statement. "Regular reports will be furnished me by the physician in charge, and the application for pardon will be deferred until the result of the treatment is known."

SALOON PROFITS GROW AS LAW IS OPENLY BROKEN

get twenty drinks—drinks that my customers won't kick about—and for each drink I get 75 cents. Figure it out for yourself. Twenty drinks to a pint nets me $15; there are twenty-four pints to the case; fifteen times twenty-four—I get $360 for the case. A profit of $330."

Discussion of Profits.
Of course, most saloonkeepers are not so frank about their profits; most of them have all sorts of arguments to prove they are being slowly driven into bankruptcy. Many are the more or less good natured controversies which may be heard on this point between saloonkeepers and patrons—usually brought on through the patron registering a protest about the portion for the money. One such saloonkeeper stated his case this way:

"What's the matter with you birds; always kicking about your drinks? Why, here I'm out every day hustling my legs off getting this booze for you and you ain't satisfied. I pay all the way from $130 to $150 a case for it. That's at least ten times as much as I used to pay, and what am I getting for it? Just 75 cents a drink, or five times as much as I used to get. No wonder I'm getting poorer every day!"

One saloonkeeper was seen using a unique method to prove to a disgruntled customer that "I'm losing money every day."

Women in Back Room.

He had poured water into a pint bottle and out of it was measuring off into a glass supposed drinks to prove "I never get more than a dozen out of a pint."

This saloon is an L-shaped place. The observer entered by mistake into the back room and found it well filled with men and women. Many of the women were drinking beer—for the place was reported to be a neighborhood haven for "good beer"—while the men for the most part drank what was called port or sherry wine or whisky.

The saloonkeeper is plainly making more money than he ever made.

"Why shouldn't they?" demanded a bartender in West Madison street, now said to be operated by two new proprietors. "They're taking chances, ain't they? Well?"

No the saloon business in Chicago is not dead. In its illicit, unregulated way, it is very much alive.

SHOE DEALER ACCUSED OF USING COUNTERFEIT LABELS

Surprised by Detectives as He Is Removing Rubber Heels with O'Sullivan Stamp from Store—Find Large Rubber Press.

U.
[redacted], 33 years old, of [redacted] street, proprietor of the [redacted] Shoe Repair shop at [redacted] street, was surprised last night, detectives say, as he was carting away evidence from [redacted] avenue, that was being sought by the police in their investigation of a charge made by [redacted] that he has been counterfeiting labels on rubber heels to represent them as O'Sullivan heels.

Held in $2,000 Bail.

His shoe repair shop, [redacted] street, is closed and in charge of a deputy sheriff in a $10,000 attachment case. ## An amazing tribute to O'Sullivan leadership

EVERYWHERE people know them—demand them. For more than twenty years they've been the acknowledged leaders—often copied, often imitated. The latest proof of their nation-wide popularity is the news of actual counterfeiting in the clipping above.

It's an amazing tribute to the extent of O'Sullivan leadership. But size, shape, color, design are not the only things that make an O'Sullivan Heel. The real secret of O'Sullivan's leadership is their elasticity—the fact that they protect you from the shocks that wear you out.

And it's protection that counts! Unless your heels are true elastic cushions—tough, live, springy—they can never absorb the 8000 shocks of daily walking.

That's what O'Sullivan's are built for. First and foremost shock-absorbers, they make every step seem cushioned on air. And no one can copy the famous "blend" that gives you absolute protection.

Don't let indifference rob you of proper protection. The counterfeit heels are confiscated now, but the lesson remains. With fifty different brands of rubber heels on the market, it's important for you to order O'Sullivan's by name.

Don't just say "rubber heels"—say "O'Sullivan's"—and see that you get them!

YANKS SLAIN BY OWN COMRADES, HOUSE IS TOLD

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—(Special.)—Traitors, cowards, enemy spies, or those who were mentally unfit for front line duty in the American expeditionary forces in France were "instantly shot" in some instances, according to Representative Johnson of North Dakota, in a speech in the house today.

Mr. Johnson served during the war in France as a fighting man and was wounded. He has since served as chairman of one of the subcommittees which investigated the conduct of the war. His statement caused considerable commotion in the house.

Denies Watson's Charge.
He spoke primarily for the purpose of denying Senator Watson's charges that American soldiers were executed without court martial.

"I can say unreservedly that I know that no American soldier in France was ever hanged upon a scaffold without a trial and conviction by court martial," said Mr. Johnson.

"No American soldier was ever shot in France unless at the front in the face of the enemy and actually fighting, and then by those who were with him and knew him to be a traitor or a coward or an enemy spy."

"Although never in my presence, nevertheless I believe I know that traitors or cowards or enemy spies, or those who were mentally unfit for front line duty have been instantly shot. Only divine Providence can determine to what class they belong."

Sticks to Statement.
"Does the gentleman mean to say that under any circumstances where men at the front line became deranged or something of that sort they were shot by their own men?" interrupted Representative Rayburn of Texas.

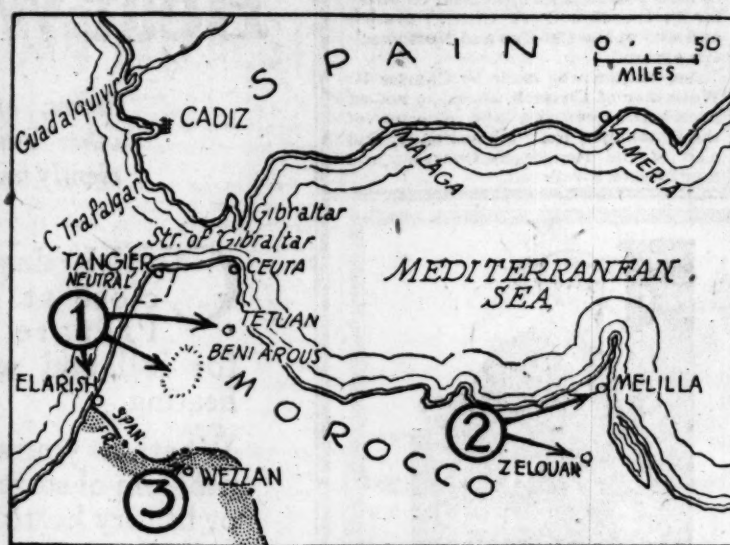

"I was trying to indicate to the house in very careful language," Mr. Johnson replied, "that it seems to be well understood among many members of the American expeditionary forces that men who have been mentally deranged as I say—and the divine Providence only knows—men who may have been traitors, who may have been cowards—nobody can tell—were undoubtedly shot in the front line."

"By whom?" asked Representative Montague of Virginia.

"By men of their own commands," answered Mr. Johnson.

RUSS BOY SCOUTS' APPEAL HEARD BY YOUNG AMERICANS

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.
The appeal of the Russian Boy Scouts for famine relief, reported recently in THE TRIBUNE by Charles Dailey of THE TRIBUNE Foreign News Service, stirred the sympathies of the Chicago Boy Scouts of Morris & Co., troops 442 and 443.

M. C. McGarry, scout master, sends the following letter:

"I noted the recent message from Russian Boy Scouts to the American Scouts appealing to them for famine aid, and at our meeting held last night the Scouts unanimously voted to take up a collection among their own troop members."

"We cheerfully enclose check for $10 which we ask you to add to this fund."

Other contributions bring the total to $4,331.22. The fund now stands as follows:

Oliver W. Johnson	$5.00	Morris & Co.	Boy Scouts	442
M. B. T. ....	1.00	Boy Scouts	443
Mrs. T. Mender	10.00	and 443		10.00

HARDING URGES CITIZENS TO AID RED CROSS DRIVE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—President Harding asked the American people tonight to give their liberal support to the annual campaign of the Red Cross for relief contributions which begins on Armistice day and continues for two weeks. Mr. Harding's statement says:

"As President of the United States of America and as president of the American Red Cross, I announce that the Red Cross annual roll call will begin on Armistice day, Nov. 11, and continue through Thanksgiving day, Nov. 24, and I designate Nov. 13 as Red Cross Saturday.

"I recommend ministers and priests of all congregations to stress the gospel of service on Nov. 13, and I invite and urge my fellow citizens to accept the entire period of the roll call as an occasion for rededication of themselves to the principles and practice of service.

"The American Red Cross is both the volunteer and semi-official medium through which our people may appropriately express their patriotic and humane desires to render practical assistance to their soldiers and sailors, to their fellow citizens in civilian life, and to those peoples of other lands who have a human claim on the sympathetic concern of our own people.

"The American Red Cross has kept faith with the principles which gave it birth and with the obligations laid upon it by congressional charter—"To act in matters of voluntary relief and in accord with the military and naval authorities as a medium of communication between the people of the United States and their army and navy."

"After a notable war service it, in conjunction with the Veterans' bureau and other activities, stands by our veterans and their families in a period of painful reconstruction, in which, as too many of us have been prone to forget, thousands are in pressing need

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

The annual reunion of the Fort Sheridan association has been postponed to Saturday, Dec. 10.

Eaton-Fridy post will hold memorial services tomorrow for the two soldiers for whom the post was named. Private John Eaton, who served with the 122d Field artillery, and Lieut. Welborn S. Fridy, who served with the 168th infantry. Addresses will be given by Gen. Abel Davis and Judge Evan A. Evans. Services will be at 2:30 o'clock in the northeast corner of Washington park, 51st street and Cottage Grove avenue. The planting of two memorial trees will be part of the ceremonies. Public is invited.

The Khaki and Blue club will hold a mistle dance Saturday evening on the twenty-first floor of the City Hall Square building. All service and ex-service men invited.

Oak Park post will give a show entitled "The Legion Review" in the Oak Park Elk's club this evening. Dancing will follow the vaudeville program.

Forbes post meets Monday evening, Nov. 14, in the second regiment armory. The post is planning to plant 350 memorial trees. Maj. George F. Lee, veteran of three wars, will be speaker for the meeting.

Western Union post and its auxiliary will hold its Armistice day anniversary frolic and dance in the Masonic temple tomorrow evening.

not only of governmental attention and assistance, but also of those supplementary acts of human kindness which only volunteer mercy can supply.

"As a result of the vast and varied experiences during the world war, the American Red Cross has devised and put in operation an extensive health and welfare program whereby our American communities are instructed and directed in the solution of those community problems upon which the public will ultimately rest.

"The call of the American Red Cross is the call of country and humanity, and I earnestly urge my fellow citizens to make that response which satisfies the promptings of a generous people."

PLAN TO COMPEL WARD ELECTIONS AT APRIL PRIMARY

Mandamus to compel County Judge Righimer to call an election for ward committeemen at the April primaries will be sought in the state Supreme court in January, according to a statement of City Clerk James T. Igoe.

He said the court will be asked to order elections in each of the new fifty wards, but if it is held they are technically not yet in existence, then it will be contended elections must be called in each of the old thirty-five wards under the 1910 primary act.

The decision was the result of a statement sent to the city council by the election board that it is proceeding on the theory that there shall be no ward committee election next April.

I won't carry throat germs to those at home

All day long—in the office or shop, in the cars, the crowded stores—you have been breathing in germs of sore throat, tonsillitis, influenza. In the warm crevices of throat and mouth they multiply rapidly.

The folks at home may be less able than you to resist these armies of ill-health and the home-coming kiss may bear the dread germs of disease.

A pleasant—almost candy-like—Formamint dissolved in the mouth now and then during the day makes the mouth fluids antiseptic, keeps germ-growth within bounds, and forms a strong defence against disease.

If the throat is already sore, the frequent use of Formamint keeps the membranes bathed in this splendid antiseptic, allays inflammation, prevents new infection and gives the tissues a chance to heal.

Children are glad to use them and should do so freely, as crowded school-rooms are fruitful fields for the spread of throat infection.

Recommended by throat specialists, physicians, dentists and druggists.

To make any water as soft as rain water—you just add more Rinso

Millions of women prove Rinso equal to the supreme test:

—a rich suds even in hard water

MILLIONS of women in both hard and soft water localities are letting Rinso soak their clothes clean.

An enthusiastic Rinso user in a hard water district writes, "The water we have here is fine drinking water but quite hard and I used to find it next to impossible to get a good suds. Since I have used Rinso I haven't had any trouble. I use a little more than it says on the package and I always get a rich suds that stands up even after the clothes are put in."

This woman has found that Rinso is so rich in pure cleansing ingredients that even in hard water it makes a thick, creamy suds. It loosens and dissolves all the dirt from even the heaviest and worst soiled pieces of the weekly wash. You do not have to rub any but the most badly soiled spots and those just lightly.

In hard water just add more Rinso until you get a good, lasting suds. Don't rub your youth away. Get several packages of Rinso today. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Rinso

Made in U. S. A.

SPECIAL DIRECTIONS—to make hard water as soft as rain water

For ordinarily soft water a half package of Rinso to a tub makes a rich lather. For harder water increase the amount until you get a rich lasting suds, even after the clothes have been put in.

Where water is extremely hard it may be necessary to dissolve a full package or more to a tub.

Dissolve the amount of Rinso you have found right for the water you use in two quarts of boiling water. Pour this solution into your tub of lukewarm water—stir well.

Put in your clothes and let them soak, one hour, two hours, overnight—whatever time is convenient. Rinse, to remove the loosened dirt, till the water runs clear.

No other soap product or softener is needed with Rinso, even in the hardest water. In hard water just use more Rinso.

Your clothes soak as safely in Rinso as in water alone

JOBB PRINTERS MUST TAKE WAGE CUT OR 48 HOURS

Final action was taken yesterday to about 200 Chicago job printing establishments on the forty-eight hour week basis at midnight next Monday night unless in the meantime the unions accept a reduction in wages.

The action consisted of confirmation by the board of governors of the Franklin association, an organization of owners of closed shop establishments, of the resolutions passed by the board of the association last Saturday night which will mark the expiration of a seven days' extension of the wage agreement which has been in force for the last five years. Under this agreement the present scale is $1.00 an hour, but when negotiations for a new agreement were taken up the unions asked an increase of 30 per cent.

Employers Propose Cut.
This would have raised the present weekly wage of $46.65 to approximately $60. But the employers countered with a proposal that the unions accept a reduction to $40 a week if they wished to retain the forty-eight hour week or go on the forty-eight hour week basis if they wish to continue the present weekly wage.

Point to High Wages.
The resolutions adopted by the Franklin Association of Employing Printers, which state that wages now are 100 per cent higher than in 1916, and that the cost of living has increased 100 per cent in the closed shop printing industry in Chicago are such that the cost of production makes the sale of their product almost impossible.

Harry G. Cantrell, secretary of the Franklin association, said a survey had shown that the forty-eight hour week is the rule in all cities with which Chicago competes.

A NEW TRADE

War veterans who were disabled by wounds and incapacitated for following their old trades are learning that of the barber at Mrs. Nellie Owen's barber school at 1428 South State street. ## Broker Who Cut Wife's Throat Held for Fraud

A day after he was freed at the South Clark street court of a charge of assaulting his wife in the Congress hotel three weeks ago, Alexander Stewart Ross, broker, was held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge William R. Steiner in the Sheffield avenue court in bonds of $12,000 on six charges of operating a confidence game. Five persons preferred the charges, having received worthless checks.

DAILEY BOARD WOULD LIMIT LOAN INTEREST

Repeal or amendment of a state act empowering corporations to borrow money at any rate of interest "without regard to the state usury laws" probably will be asked by the Dailey commission as a result of revelations made before it concerning the exorbitant rates of interest charged by mortgage loan corporations.

This law, Senator John Dailey, chairman of the commission, announced yesterday, has resulted in the withdrawal of money from use both in the farming and legitimate building operations.

Order Hool to Appear.

At the same time Senator Dailey ordered that James A. Hool and three others connected with the Hool Realty company be subpoenaed to appear before the commission at 10 o'clock this morning and instructed Attorney Joseph B. Fleming, counsel for the commission, to institute contempt proceedings against them in the Circuit court in event of their refusal to respond.

Three members of the company—Hool, Roy S. Sebrer, secretary-treasurer, and Morris Baranick—refused to appear before the commission yesterday in answer to subpoenas directing them to produce certain records. Maurice Berkson, their attorney, appeared for them and announced his clients intend to contest the power of the commission to inquire into their business.

Accused of Rent Boosting.

The Hool company is accused of being the pioneer in the rent boosting campaign, but the commission is especially interested in ascertaining the details of a transaction in connection with the erection of a building at Crawford avenue and Irving Park boulevard for which a total of $25,000 in cash was paid and a bond issue of $275,000 sold.

BLAME MOONSHINE FOR DEATH.

Moonshine whiskey is believed to have caused the death yesterday of Anton Cwikli of 4305 Addison street.

STATE OFFERS SMALL A COURSE TO SPEED TRIAL

Counsel for the state in the prosecution of Gov. Small on indictments charging embezzlement of state funds decided at Springfield yesterday to offer the governor every opportunity to speed up his trial at Waukegan. A tentative agreement was suggested covering the technical procedure before impaneling of the jury begins. These are the suggestions:

That there shall be a conference in Waukegan tomorrow between attorneys for both sides, at which it shall be determined who shall be the responsible leader for each side.

That all early motions shall be submitted to Judge Edwards immediately and entered upon his calendar, probably Saturday.

That Judge Edwards shall then set a date for arguments on these preliminary motions, possibly between Dec. 5 and Dec. 10, with the further agreement that the actual trial is not to start until after Jan. 1.

It was reported a motion to quash the indictments will be made before Gov. Small goes to Waukegan.

Frigidaire CLEAN DRY ELECTRICAL REFRIGERATION THE ELECTRICAL HOME FRIGERATOR

Whether for apartments, small or large-size homes, Frigidaire is ideal. It keeps food much longer than an old-fashioned ice box and under more sanitary conditions. No residence is entirely modern without this equipment.

Frigidaire is entirely automatic. Just attach it to your electric current and, without any attention, it will keep an even low temperature every day in the year.

Dr. Thorek writes: "It is my pleasure to advise that the Frigidaire is giving excellent service."

Frigidaire will make ice for the table and freeze many dainty desserts. It is a product of General Motors Corporation and will probably cost you less to run than you now pay for ice.

Shipping the Millionth New Improved Gillette Patented January 13th 1920

ON October 29, 1921, a shipment containing the millionth New Improved Gillette left the Gillette Factory.

For a shaving instrument that cannot fully be described in print—

That cannot be adequately demonstrated except on one's own personal face—

What is it then that makes people so spontaneously partisan toward the New Improved Gillette?

Briefly this—

Sales figures show that 57,263 men bought the New Improved Gillette the first day, on faith in the Gillette word and record of achievement.

Within 24 hours, these men had demonstrated to themselves beyond question the 75% improvement in shaving quality brought by the New Improved Gillette.

Thousands more bought—tried—and told about the New Improved Gillette.

500,000 produced by August 1st—and still orders so outran production that a night shift became necessary in the Gillette Factories.

But magnitude does not say everything.

No one can forget the peculiar tribute expressed in the way so many loyal followers of the old-type Gillette affectionately laid it aside for the New.

Because they believed Gillette when Gillette said that the New Improved instrument is better.

Important about the New Improved Gillette—A Word about the Blades

Most men prefer to screw the razor up tight to get the most satisfactory shave.

Gillette seems it proper to ask the public to use Gillette Blades only in genuine Gillette Razors.

The Gillette Blade and Gillette Razor are developed to work together. No Gillette Blade can deliver its full shaving quality unless used in a genuine Gillette Razor—built by Gillette, in the Gillette way and up to Gillette standards.

The New Improved GILLETTE SAFETY RAZOR

Uses the same fine Gillette Blades as you have known for years—but now your Blades can give you all the luxury of the finest shaving edge in the world.

A shaving edge guarded from the face, but free to the beard. Identify the New Improved Gillette by its

RUTH AND MATES MUST TELL THEIR STORY TO LANDIS

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Before passing sentence in the case of O. B. Ruth, Meusel, and Piercy, Baseball Commissioner Judge E. K. Landis will let the defense speak its little piece. Leslie O'Connor, secretary to the commissioner, announced yesterday that questionnaires had been mailed to the three athletes who defied baseball's rules and regulations by playing exhibition games after participating in a world series.

Just what questions the commissioner asked the recalcitrant athletes is not known, and O'Connor offered no information in this connection. It was hinted, however, that, among other things, the judge asked what influenced the athletes to disregard the rules after Landis had only stated that he hoped his reply would be satisfactory. It will reach Landis today. The Bambino did admit he hadn't received his world's series coin.

Nothing has been heard from the other two offenders, but if Meusel is of the same mind as when he passed through Chicago last week, he probably will be a long time in answering. It is a safe bet, however, that he will do just as requested and lose no time about it.

It is the intention of Landis to give the athletes a reasonable time to frame their defense. If they fail to come across sentence will be passed. The fact that Ruth was the ringleader of the barnstorming expedition and that his reply will be here today may mean a decision before the week-end.

Fine May Be Series Coin.
There still is much speculation as to what Landis will do, but it is a good bet that he will assess the offenders a few dollars—possibly their full shares of the series pot. A penalty such as this would convince the wrongdoers that baseball's laws were made for a purpose and at the same time would not injure the club owners, who would suffer if Babe and his two pals were kept out of the game for a month or more next season.

Much depends on Landis' personal opinion of the rule. He had no hand in its making, so may not favor it. It is his attitude there is a possibility of a light sentence to be followed by the judge making a fight for the repeal of the rule at the meetings of the two majors next month.

Central A. A. U. Opens Bids for Championship Events

Notices have been sent to all clubs affiliated with the central department of the A. A. U. that bids for holding of the championship events in basketball, track and field, boxing, wrestling, swimming, gymnastics, handball, and the cross country run are open. All bids must be accompanied by the sanction fee and the dates selected, and sent to Charles A. Dean, chairman of the championship committee, 14 East Jackson boulevard.

J. Lavan of Cardinals to Play Again Next Season

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 9.—John Lavan, shortstop with the local Nationals, who last year announced he would retire from baseball after the 1921 season, today stated he had reconsidered the matter and would play with the Cardinals next season.

T. Gibbons to Meet O'Dowd at New Orleans Nov. 25

New Orleans, La., Nov. 9.—Tommy Gibbons, contender for the heavyweight championship, has been matched in a fifteen round bout with Dan O'Dowd on Nov. 25. It was announced today.

SHARKEY'S TITLE BOUT ENDS GOTHAM WHIRL

BY HENRY FARRELL.

New York, Nov. 9.—[United Press.]—Broadway is the poorest training ground in the world. Even in these rather tame days, what is left of the old bright lights of the gay white way does not tend to condition an athlete.

The "old times" tell thus, but the youngsters don't always listen. The little bantam, Jack Sharkey, the most popular boxer in New York, didn't listen and he lost two great chances for the crown of the little fellows.

Proving the exceptions to the old line about opportunity knocking only once, Sharkey gets his third big chance tomorrow night in Madison Square Garden, when he goes into the ring with Johnny Buff, holder of the flyweight and bantam weight titles.

Days of Obscurity.
Two years ago Sharkey was just one of those little fellows who can be found hanging around any gymnasium in any town. He had "some stuff," but he never had a chance to get it out.

Sharkey left New York and he was never missed until he made his overnight jump into fame by beating Jimmy Wilde, the British flyweight champion, in Milwaukee.

When he left his home town Sharkey was a "five buck" sparring partner; when he came back he was a $10,000 attraction.

His thrilling fifteen round draw with Joe Lynch in the Garden is still remembered and the events that followed are still being held up as examples by managers with young prospects.

Money and Bright Lights.
Having more money than he ever dreamed of before, Sharkey hit Broadway. He liked the lights and he had a bunch of friends who liked to sit under the public demand another Sharkey-Lynch go, and it ended in a knock-out of a badly conditioned boy, Lynch, the victor and the clean liver, went out and got the title.

Sharkey could have had another bout with Lynch, but Tex Rickard wanted him to prove himself. He failed to train for what he thought was a setup, and he was again beaten by Roy Moore. The Broadway moral finally hit him and he started training. He admitted the "old-timers" were right and he went back to work.

Kelly and Corbett to Mix at Kenosha Opening Nov. 17

John Wagner closed three matches yesterday for his opening boxing show at Kenosha, Nov. 17. The windup will bring together Jimmy Kelly, the student bantamweight and George Corbett, the stockyard boxer. They are scheduled to box ten rounds at 113 pounds.

In addition there will be two other ten rounders between Willie Green, former Great Lakes featherweight and Bud Christiano, the junior lightweight, and Harold Smith, Buck Montgomery's protegee and Joe Mandell, the Rockford bantam. Popular prices will prevail.

AL ROBERTS BEATS CROSSLEY.
New York, Nov. 9.—Al Roberts, New York heavyweight, was given the judges' decision over Herbert Crossley of England at the end of a twelve round bout tonight.

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

BETTER FEELING IN BIG 10.

BETTER feeling between members of Big Ten eleven on the gridiron, exchange of courtesies between rival rooting bodies—in fact, better sportsmanship—have been characteristic of the football season to date.

This spirit has been fostered by faculty, athletic authorities, and alumni, who realized that the old time jealousies and bitterness were such a menace to intercollegiate sport as to threaten, in several instances, an actual severing of athletic relations between colleges where the feeling had mounted high.

Notable examples in this new era are acts of Coach Yost of Michigan and George R. Carr, an Illinois alumnus living in Chicago. Yost contributed $500 toward the erection in the new Illinois stadium of a memorial column to Lieut. Col. Curtis G. Redden, former Michigan football and baseball player, who died in Germany after the armistice.

Michigan and Illinois are rivals in football, track, and baseball—in fact, about the only two Big Ten colleges which have consistently good baseball teams.

The remaining $500 toward the Redden column came from Illinois veterans of the 14th Field artillery of the Rainbow division.

Alumnus Carr contributed $1,000 toward a memorial column in honor of Laurens Shull, who fell in France. Shull was one of the best linemen in Maroon football history and prominent in other sports. He had frequently opposed the Illinois in athletic contests.

At the Ohio game last Saturday Ohio's crack band, after playing its own Alma Mater, turned and faced the Maroon stands, playing the Chicago Alma Mater. There have been numerous such instances, including cheers from rooting sections for opposing teams or for injured opponents.

We think this spirit means much for the permanency and future of intercollegiate sport.

FREEDMAN READY FOR LEONARD GO

"Salor" Freedman, one of Chicago's aspiring young mitt slingers, returned to Chicago yesterday after doing Broadway for a spell, and reported his flaccid morale 100 per cent perfect. Freedman is loaded with pep because on Nov. 22 he gets a shot at World's Lightweight Champion Benny Leonard in an eight round contest at Philadelphia.

Before leaving New York Freedman closed for a contest with the tough Rocky Kansas, this bout to be staged in Buffalo, Kansas' home town, just one week after he mixes with Leonard, the date being Nov. 25.

The Sailor will start training tomorrow at the Arcade gym, and will keep going up to the time he departs for Philadelphia.

KRONE TO INVITE MAT STARS TO AID BENEFIT

Chicago is to have a big wrestling show this winter for the benefit of the poor. Doc Krone intends to play Santa Claus and will call on some of the country's best grapplers to contribute their services. The Coliseum has been leased for the occasion and the show will be put on some time around the holidays.

Efforts were made a few weeks ago by the World's War Veterans to bring together Marin Plesina and Stanislaus Zyzsko. Plesina answered the call and offered to appear at a benefit for that organization, but Zyzsko had to catch a train and was unable to be present at the peace conference.

It is Krone's belief that the two grapplers can be signed for his show. If Krone intends to get up an equally attractive card, with representatives of each division.

Johnson High Man in Logan Square Pin Meet

Andy Johnson and Tom Christiansen were the star performers last night at the Schueneemann alleys in the weekly schedule of the Logan Square Bowling league. Johnson had an average of 225.13 while rolling with the Jack Thompsons and Christiansen had 223.13 for the Schueneemanns, which enabled them to take the odd game from the Thompsons. Christiansen had a high game of 277, while the best effort of Johnson was a count of 249.

Barrett and Nessinger Lead Tribune Pin League

Led by Nessinger, who rolled 214, and Coughlin, who had 201, the Composing room team had high total, 2775, in the Tribune Bowling league and in the Tribune Pin League. Auditing won two from Press Room, Editorial two from General, General two from Engraving, and Advertising three from Circulation. Barrett of the Stereotypers had high game, 223.

Lombard College Team Practices Here Today

The Lombard college eleven, which will play the University of Chicago at De Paul field, will arrive this morning and hold practice on the local school's field this afternoon. Coach Haggerty last night announced the De Paul lineup as follows:

Ends: Neiser and Graham; tackles: Laughren and Blackwood; guards: McDowell and Beck; center: McCall; full backs: Shanley and Cunningham; full back, Crawley.

Latin School Team Plays St. Louis Eleven Saturday

In whiff romances to be one of the most bitterly fought intersectional football games of the season the Chicago Latin eleven will meet the strong St. Louis Country Day school at St. Louis on Saturday. Although Latin has rather a light team, it is exceptionally fast and is expected to put up a great fight.

RABBITS AND SQUIRRELS.

ALTHOUGH the rabbit season is on, the majority of hunters are waiting for a snow before getting tracking snow to make rabbit shooting interesting. In fact, some old timers will tell you that they would not think of shooting or eating a rabbit until there is snow on the ground.

The rabbit season in Illinois runs until Jan. 31 and the bag limit is fifteen per day. The law prohibits the use of ferrets in hunting. Here is another regulation on the shooting of Mollie Cottontail that many hunters are not familiar with. It is unlawful to shoot rabbits (or any game bird or animal, for that matter) from an automobile or vehicle of any kind propelled by mechanical power, by the use of lights on the machine. This sort of shooting would certainly be slaughter, as a rabbit will stand stock still in the middle of a road, apparently bewitched by the glaring headlights of an automobile.

Indiana has set the open season for rabbits from April 1 to Jan. 10, inclusive. With such a long season they might just as well make one bite of the cherry and allow hunters to shoot rabbits the year around. As for squirrels, the Illinois season closes Dec. 1. The bag limit is fifteen a day and you can have twenty in your possession at any one time and still keep within the law. In Indiana the squirrel season also closes on Dec. 1.

TOFT CAPTURES TEN MILE AUTO RACE AT PHOENIX

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 9.—Omar Toft won the ten mile auto race today's automobile racing program here in 8:50, and Ralph De Palma defeated Roscoe Saries in a ten mile match in which they were the only competitors, in 8:52.25.

Toft, Jimmy Murphy, and Saries were the only starters in the ten mile event. Murphy was second and Saries failed to finish, because he threw the left rear wheel from his machine in the eighth mile. Saries was uninjured.

Unbeaten Beloit Eleven at Pyott Field Sunday

Rooters who flock to Pyott field next Sunday for the game between the Stays and the Fairbanks-Morse team of Beloit are promised a variety of thrills featured by open and closed formations. Jack Dunn, quarter back of the Stays, has been drilling his combination this week in an aerial attack mixed with a series of shifts patterned after those made famous by the Minnesota teams. The Beloit squad has not lost a game this fall.

NOTES OF THE CUE ROOMS.
Robert Kessler, representing Schueneemann's last night won the northwest side district championship in the elimination tournament to determine semi-final round players for the state amateur pocket billiard title and second medal. Kessler, who is a student of J. Ryan and Edward Peterson of Le Gros, ended the preliminary round in a tie and in the playoff Kessler won 75 to 50, and Winkowski, 75 to 50.

In the three cushion tournament at Benninger's Wabash room Kelly defeated Baccio 40 to 15.

In the 18-8 exhibition at the I. A. C. Roger Conli defeated Percy Collins, 4-0 to 69. Conli had a run of 138 and averaged 44.40.

CHAMPION HOPPE WILLING TO PLAY JAKE SCHAEFER

Replying to the challenge made by Jake Schaefer to meet any billiardist in the world at 18-2, 18-1, three cushion, red ball or cushion caroms, Manager E. B. Benjamin, who pilots Willie Hoppe, said last night that the champion is willing to play Schaefer when his turn comes to challenge.

In the coming world's series the players have the right to challenge in the order in which they finish, and should Hoppe win and Schaefer finish second, then Jake, under the terms of the tournament, must post a forfeit within ten days, and Hoppe must play within a stipulated period or forfeit.

Wants $2,000 Side Bet.
If Schaefer should earn the right to challenge Benjamin is willing to make the match for $2,000 a side.

Last week Benjamin asserted that Hoppe would not appear in the opening game of the world's tournament unless he was drawn by lot for that position. He still adheres to his position.

Champ Wins Over Peterson.
Although not getting any thing higher than a run of 123, Hoppe played remarkably consistent billiards in his two blocks against Charles Peterson at Mussey's Madison street room yesterday.

He won the afternoon session, 400 to 126, averaging 44.4-9, with high run of 101 unfinished. Peterson had a high run of 87. Hoppe ran 70 in his first inning of the night match and won, 300 to 126, averaging 75. Peterson averaged 31.

Breaks Stationary Bike Record at Coliseum Show

The world's stationary bicycle record for one mile was broken last night at the National Motorcycle and Bicycle show at the Coliseum, when Jules Arens of the Belgian-American Cycling club reeled off the distance in 55 seconds flat. The best previous record was 56.25. Arens used a 104 gear in his performance.

Why we can't make comparisons

Comparisons mean nothing only when the commodities compared have some points in common.

For instance, it does get you anywhere to compare a diamond with a piece of glass, but for one is genuine and the other an imitation.

Similarly, to compare of Kremenetz correct jewelry with an article for evening wear, but which is incorrect, is equally odious.

There can be no comparison when there is nothing to compare it with.

Full dress sets $7.50 to $17.50; tuxedo sets $4.50 to $11.00.

GRID COACHES OF EAST WOULD KILL ALL SHIFT PLAYS

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

New York, Nov. 9.—[Special.]—If eastern football coaches, Maj. Charley Danforth of the Army and J. Foster Sanford of Rutgers in particular, have their way, the days of shift plays are numbered. This attitude was evident in yesterday's game between Notre Dame and Rutgers, when the little west eleven was penalized close to 100 yards for all sorts of beating of the ball.

Mentors in this section now claim that not only must shifted backs have their feet stationary, but their bodies also must be rigid. If they are leaning in the direction of the play, the coaches claim it gives them an added momentum which is essential to the success of the play. They also maintain there must be a reasonable delay between all shifts so that officials can determine definitely whether the offending eleven is in motion.

When Notre Dame defeated the Army at West Point last Saturday, 28-0, Maj. Charley Danforth wanted to charge officials between halves, because they did not penalize the west eleven on almost every play when they beat the ball. The Army coach went as far as to come out on the field to protest, but his team was not set back for an infringement of the rules. Maj. Danforth accused Coach Tocknoe of making deliberate attempts to beat the rule.

Capt. Sanford, whose Rutgers eleven lost to Notre Dame yesterday, 48-0, took up the trail blazed by the Army mentor. Before yesterday's game, Sanford told the officials the western eleven was not using legal formations and that it should be set back five yards every time the backfield shifted. If it had not been for this constant penalization, Notre Dame would have won by a much larger score. Several long gains were taken away because the backs had started before the ball.

Loss to West's Eleven. If all games are to be legislated as they are in the east, there is not a team in the country which employs shift plays, which would not suffer heavy penalties. Chicago, Ohio State, and Michigan would not get far under the eastern idea of motion, while California, the strongest eleven on the coast, which uses complex shift plays, would be set back many yards.

The shift plays as employed by a number of teams, Notre Dame particularly, are illegal, Coach Sanford said yesterday. "They are contrary to the spirit of the rules and give an offensive eleven a great advantage. Not only must the feet be stationary, but the bodies also must be rigid. At a meeting of coaches held early in the season, they recommended to the rules committee that the 'in motion' rule be amended to such an extent that bodies of shifted players must be rigid. The committee accepted our recommendations, and we are urging officials to enforce it."

N. D. to Cancel Army Game. As a result of the heated arguments between Notre Dame and West Point players and Maj. Danforth's attack upon the western eleven's style, the inter-sectional contests between the Hoosiers and Cadets will be discontinued, according to Coach Rockne.

PURPLE ELEVEN STARTS WORK FOR GAME WITH IOWA

Northwestern's football squad resumed active practice yesterday afternoon for the final game of the season, with Iowa, at Evanston, Nov. 19.

Due to the efficient handling of the Purple's injured players by Trainer Ferguson and his assistant, Walter Bergman, Coach McDevitt yesterday began work for the closing contest with a 100 per cent squad. The hospital list now includes only Turner, Maguire, and Le Count, who were badly injured in early games and put out for the year.

Coach McDevitt ran the varsity through a long signal drill yesterday afternoon in an effort to perfect the formations used against Purdue. The Purple mentor has some new plays he plans to give to the squad in the next few days. The freshmen are being taught favorite Hawkeye formations, which will be used against the varsity in coming practice.

DEVINE RETURNS TO IOWA SQUAD

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Iowa fans went wild with delight tonight when Aubrey Devine donned his uniform again and broke into the first really red hot practice of the week.

The line stopped all Indiana offensive plays and Devine, on the other hand, showed scarcely a sign that he had been badly hurt only five days before. He passed beautifully to Kadesky and holding.

ILLINOIS.
URBANA, Ill., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Fearful of injuring his only hopes for the battle with Chicago, Coach Zupke carefully nursed Capt. Walden, Crangle, Foden, and the other cripples to night. The rest of the squad was engaged chiefly in learning how to break up the dreaded Maroon pass and running attack. Most of the practice was of a defensive nature because it is impossible to work on offense with the back field unable to scrimmage.

Zupke worked Kaiser, Esslinger, and Taber as backs tonight. Joe Sternan played quarterback.

MINNESOTA.
Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Scrimmage was in order this afternoon between the regulars and the freshmen. The first year men used Michigan play throughout and managed to make considerable headway. Two of the Minnesota regulars, Brown and Martineau, were not in uniform and will not scrimmage until later in the week. Because of the hard condition of the field, scrimmage was restricted to forty-five minutes.

After the regular workout on the field there was a short signal drill in the gymnasium. The regular tackle, being carefully groomed for the Michigan contest, his last college game.

INDIANA.
Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Indiana started a monster pep session on the field tonight to give the football squad a send-off on its departure for Iowa tomorrow. An improvised platform was built from which speakers were made by President Bryn. Coaches Stehm and Minton, members of the faculty, and some of the members of the Indianapolis "I" Men's association. Because of rain the final drill was held in the gymnasium.

PRINCETON.
Princeton, N. J., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Princeton's football squad was kept indoors most of the afternoon by poor weather, and instead of holding the scheduled scrimmage on university field the men had a signal drill in the baseball cage, plus a short session with the dummy outside. Ed Stinson was back in town, but neither Kack, Witten, or Gilroy were present, although all three will play against Yale Saturday. For a solid hour the first eleven ran through signals.

YALE.
New Haven, Conn., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Instead of being driven through a lively scrimmage, practice this afternoon, the Yale players found themselves tripping over the tarpaulin in the gymnasium. Rain fell all afternoon and it was decided to take no chances on additional injuries in scrimmage. The coaches have picked the team they expect to lead against the Tigers. Its composition follows: Left end, Hultman; left tackle, Lingo; left guard, Cruikshank; center, Landis; right guard, Gurney; right tackle, Diller; right end, Sturm; quarter back, Beckel; left half back, Captain Aldrich; right half back, Jordan; full back, Mallory.

WISCONSIN.
MADISON, Wis., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Despite a heavy field due to yesterday's snow storm, the Badgers went through a heavy scrimmage against the All-American opponents today. It was the last scrimmage of the week in preparation for the Michigan game, tomorrow's schedule being limited to signal drill and dummy scrimmage. The backfield lineup still is a matter of doubt at the quarter and left half positions. Either Williams or Gibson may start at quarter, leaving Gould, Woods or Williams for the half. The team is in excellent condition.

Wolverine Alumni, Band, to Parade Here Tomorrow
A permit was issued last night for the University of Michigan band to march in Michigan boulevard tomorrow afternoon when the band and University of Michigan students arrive here en route to the Wisconsin-Michigan game at Madison the following day. Notices have been sent to Michigan alumni in Chicago to be at the Michigan Central depot at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to meet the band and to turn loose an old time parade. The alumni will give the band a dinner at the Real Estate exchange at 6:30.

Thorn Tornadoes Prepare for Pair of Hard Contests
The Thorn-Tornadoes will be called upon to put in two strenuous days of grid work over the week-end with only one day's rest in between, having booked games both for tomorrow and Sunday. Tomorrow the T. N. T.s will play at Goshen, Ind., and on Sunday at their home grounds, Whitman & Barnes park, against the South Bend Arrows.

South Dakota Wesleyan Wins.
Mitchell, S. D., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—South Dakota Wesleyan defeated the Buena Vista college eleven here today by 25 to 20.

Cardinals Work Hard for Canton
With only one day left in which to make ready for the battle with the famous Canton Bulldogs, who will be their Armistice day opponents on the gridiron at Cubs park tomorrow, Capt. Paddy Driscoll has ordered an intensive all-around rehearsal for the Chicago Cardinals this afternoon. The switch from Normal park to Cub park was made by Manager Chris Mervin in order to take care of the big crowd he expected to be on hand. The Cardinals, who blanked Hammond, 7 to 0, last Sunday, are confident of winning the holiday contest, despite the formidable array of all-American talent on the Canton lineup. The kick-off tomorrow is set for 2 o'clock.

Alumni Body Dines Maroon Grid Squad
Members of the Alumni association of the University of Chicago entertained the Maroon football team at the annual banquet at the Hotel La Salle last night. Coach Staggs and his assistants and the entire squad attended.

Coach Staggs in his speech said: "No Chicago team ever did a finer thing than the March made from our 15 yard line to the Ohio 10 yard line in the first five minutes of the game, but after that our team was a great disappointment. The Ohio strategy in the final period was a beautiful thing, but they really had no business scoring. Our team got in a panic and did not play sound football."

Expect Battle with Illini.
Walter S. Kennedy, captain of the championship team of 1899, was one of the speakers. He said: "Illinois will have the triple incentive of the traditional Chicago rivalry, the homecoming crowd, and the start of the stadium drive, and they will be keyed to the limit. They are likely to find themselves and I look for a terrific battle Saturday."

Practice Cut Short.

Former Sailor Football Stars Clash Sunday
Guard Keefe of the Rock Island Independents, who tackle the Staleys at the Cuban Park Sunday afternoon, is one of the greatest linemen ever turned out of the crack Great Lakes eleven, member of the crack Great Lakes eleven was also his Rock Island teammate, Quarter Back Conzelmann, the star punter.

The Staleys boast of two former Great Lakes stars in End Halas and Tackle Blacklock. This means that more than a third of the cogs who beat the Annapolis and Mare Island Marine elevens will be in action as rivals.

Rock Island has secured a number of stars to strengthen the team, including Half Back "Ziggy" Hasbrouck, who was with the Rochester pros up to two weeks ago, and Full Back Gavin of Buffalo. Tickets for Sunday's game go on sale today at Thomas E. Wilson's, Wabash avenue and Monroe street.

MAYOR SELECTS JOBLESS BOARD OF 68 MEMBERS

Ald. Mulcahy Is Chairman of New Commission.

Mayor Thompson yesterday named an unemployment commission of sixty-eight members, as requested in a resolution passed by the city council a month ago.

The mayor recently refused to appoint a somewhat similar commission as requested by Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, acting on President Harding's orders. The mayor told Mr. Hoover that a registration of unemployed, requested by the national unemployment conference, might be used as a blacklist.

The commission named yesterday is composed of the mayor, a number of men friendly to the mayor, but there is a liberal sprinkling of men known to be bitterly opposed to Thompsonism.

Why Foes Are Named.

This was explained by one of the mayor's advisers and a member of the new commission, as follows:

"The mayor has been subjected to criticism by his enemies for his stand on Hoover's request. He therefore decided to put some of his critics on this commission, so that, if they refuse to act, they themselves will be subject to criticism and if they do act, being in the minority, they will be jointly responsible with the majority for the accomplishments or failure of the commission."

Ald. Robert J. Mulcahy, who introduced the original resolution in the council, is named chairman of the commission.

"Our first meeting will be devoted to a discussion of procedure," he said. "The commission's objects will be to get all kinds of construction work started, both public and private, and to persuade large corporations to permit part time employment as a remedy for unemployment."

Members of Commission.

The members of the commission named by the mayor in addition to Ald. Mulcahy, are:

John J. Coughlin, Robert B. Jackson, U. S. Schwartz, John A. Richter, Charles S. Eaton, Guy Gurnea, Martin S. Furman, Guy Mulderoom, James M. Nichols, Dennis A. Moran, Anton J. Gernak, Samuel O. Shaffer, Joseph H. Smith, H. O. Olson, John A. Pictorwald, Wm. F. Devereaux, H. Cavanagh, Joe Powers, Neil Franks, Charles J. Arner, Arthur F. Albert, John F. Steffen, John H. Bader, E. I. Frankhauser, Thomas K. Casper, Thomas E. Arncliffe, Harry Schlegel, Thomas F. Byrne, William R. O'Toole, Scott M. Hogan, Ben S. Wilson, John F. Garner, Joseph O. Koster, John A. Clark.

J. Ogden Armour, George B. Arnold, Thomas P. Deuther, John C. Eastman, William H. Ehemann, Michael J. Faherty, Charles R. Francis, Hale Holden, George W. Rinman, Roy D. Sehn, D. F. Kelly, Eugene R. ## COPS CAN TELL HOW TO DANCE, BUT NOT WHEN

The Chicago police department can regulate and control dancing in any public place in the city limits, but they cannot set the hours in which this dancing will be allowed.

This decision was handed down yesterday by Judge Hugo M. Friedman in the circuit court in granting a temporary injunction to Edward Rosenberg, proprietor of the Ritz-Carlton restaurant, 4845 Cottage Grove avenue, restraining the police from interfering with dancing in his establishment.

"The question at issue was the right of the city under statutory laws to prohibit dancing after 1 o'clock," the judge explained. "The police department mean that the police cannot otherwise regulate dancing; they can stop disorderly dancing in a minute. That authority, however, comes from another ordinance."

Poole Charges "Short Weight" to Fruit Dealers

Evidence of "short weight" practices on the part of a number of Chicago fruit brokers was sent to State's Attorney Crowe yesterday by Russell J. Poole, secretary of the council committee on living costs.

"MANNEQUIN"

MISS HELEN REND.

Miss Helen Rend and a group of pretty debutantes acted as mannequins at the Woman's Exchange sale yesterday in the ballroom of the Blackstone, and so successful were they in displaying the charms of the gowns and negligees that the majority of the models were sold by noon and orders for many more had been taken.

The other departments were equally successful and sales amounted to about $20,000.

Mrs. Edward I. Cudahy, president, was assisted by Mrs. James Ward Thorne, Mrs. Paul Walker, Miss Helen Gurley, Mrs. John Coleman Jr., Mrs. John W. Gary, and a score of others.

Other mannequins were Miss Bertha Honoré, Miss Theodora Winterbotham, Miss Jane Wright, and Miss Mary Wegg.

Some of those who placed large orders were Mrs. John J. Mitchell, Mrs. Philip D. Armour, Mrs. Timothy B. Blackstone, Mrs. Edward F. Swift, Mrs. William O. Goodman, Mrs. Marguerite M. Sheriff, and Mrs. William J. Chalmers.

JEWELER BEGS THIEVES TO QUIT PICKING ON HIM

Third Robbery Gets on His Nerves.

Last night A. I. Joseph, jeweler, 611 North State street, sat at his desk and sadly wrote a letter.

"To all Thieves, Robbers, Holdup Men, and Yeggs: Please leave me alone. Three times you've visited my shop. You got my automobile and most of my money. I'm a poor young man trying to get a start, and you've thrown me way in debt. Won't you please quit now until I've got on my feet at least?"

Then Joseph spoke. "Do you think I can get that published?" he inquired. "Some months ago some one broke my front window with a brick and stole my diamonds. Two weeks later some one stole my automobile. And today—"

They Took His Money.

Two young men armed with revolvers entered Joseph's store, ordered him into a back room, and there tied his hands and feet. They opened his safe and took $200 from it. Then they grabbed the only two diamonds on display and a $15 watch.

Insurance has been refused him. Joseph declares, because of the dangerous neighborhood his shop is in.

"But what can I do—I'm just starting, and I need cheap rent!" he says.

Some Other Robberies.

The burglary of Joseph's store wasn't the only item on the crime list of yesterday. Three men bound and gagged James Hopkinson in his delicatessen store at 2050 Roosevelt road and took $65. H. H. Thomas, president of the Albany Wet Wash company, 2910 Irving Park boulevard, was held up and robbed of $350. Frank McDermott, 4237 North Ashland avenue, lost $312 to a trio of bandits, and Howard G. Higgins, proprietor of a drug store at 1158 West Marquette road, reported the loss of $25 and a package of cigars to a lone thief.

CHINESE SHOOT FILIPINO BEAU OF RUSS BRIDE

Italian Boy Helps an Irish Cop Make Pinch.

About two months ago Wang Sun, a Chinese, 527 South Clark street, married Mary Golosinsky, of Russian and Spanish blood.

Last night Wang Sun came home. He found there Flaminio Romana, a Filipino postal clerk, who lives at 2604 Prairie avenue. Wang Sun didn't like it, so he got a gun. Romana, the scion of the Sun and his gun close at his heels.

Sun Starts Shooting.

When Romana hit the sidewalk he was a dozen feet ahead of Sun. Sun started shooting.

John Black and Samuel Williams, Negroes, were standing at Clark and Harrison streets and they heard bullets whizzing. They ducked into a doorway and knelt as Sun and Romana galloped by.

In the South Clark street station were Officers Patrick Doyle, an Irishman, Al Hahn, a German, and Harold B. Seymour, an Englishman. They heard the shooting. As they went out the door Policeman Byrnes joined in with them.

Italian Points the Way.

When they got to the corner the only one who was there was the Italian newsboy. "They all went over there," he piped and pointed to an alley on Harrison street, between Clark and Dearborn streets.

In the alley, surrounded by a mob, were Sun and Romana. Sun had no cartridges left; Romana had a bullet in his side. They were arrested. Sun will face trial for assault with intent to kill; Romana will recover and says he will prosecute.

DRAINAGE BOARD RENEWS BATTLE FOR MORE WATER

Efforts of the sanitary district to obtain the right to divert 10,000 cubic feet of water from Lake Michigan have been renewed before the present congress. Representative M. A. McInnes has introduced a bill designed to remove objections of Canada to the withdrawal of that amount.

The bill provides that the chief of engineers of the United States army shall prepare plans for regulating works in the St. Clair, Niagara, and St. Lawrence rivers designed to compensate for any lowering of water levels in the great lakes system. Under the bill the government shall build the works and the sanitary district shall pay for them.

The bill has been referred to the army engineers for investigation, and when their report is made it is expected public hearings will be ordered and that delegations representing the state, the city, and the sanitary district will attend them to urge passage of the bill.

$200,000 DRIVE PLAN TAKEN UP BY PARK BOARD

Widening of the Lake Shore drive between Oak street and North avenue, an estimated cost of $200,000, was proposed at yesterday's meeting of the Lincoln park board. The proposal, together with that of establishing a new drive to take care of one way traffic, went over until the next meeting of the board, which will be held Dec. 14.

The board decided to abandon its plan for establishing a toboggan slide in the park.

City Files Suit to Get Back "Diverted" $100,000

Suit asking for a receiver and an injunction against the estate of Henry Wulff, former senior clerk in the city collector's office, was filed in behalf of the city in the circuit court yesterday. The bill alleges that, acting in his official capacity, Wulff diverted more than $100,000 of the city's money to his own use, and that, in order to evade action, diverted property he had bought to his wife in her maiden name of Celia T. Eldred.

Man Killed in Saloon Murdered, Coroner Says

Ira D. Coyne, who was shot dead in the saloon of Roy Zimmerman, 7 North Paulina street, three weeks ago, was murdered by an unidentified man, according to the verdict of a coroner's jury yesterday. Zimmerman and Samuel Balkin, 4833 Calumet avenue, held in connection with the shooting on $10,000 bail each, will come up in the Maxwell street court Nov. 22.

HER PHANTOM LOVER

by ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

INSTALLMENT XL

LETTY MAKES A THREAT.

It was about 10 o'clock when Andrew let himself in by way of the shop door, his intention being to go straight up to his room. He hoped his mother was in bed. He did not want to have further speech with anybody tonight.

Luck, however, was not with him. In the kitchen were both his mother and Mrs. Price. The latter appeared to be in terrible anguish of mind, and it soon became plain that both women had been waiting impatiently for Andrew's return.

Simultaneously they hurried at him the same question. Had he seen Letty or been with her that evening?

"No," he replied. "What's the matter?"

Mrs. Price began to cry. She had had a little something to drink and now took a little more, draining the remains of a glass of stout, as one determined upon drowning a sorrow which, alas, had many lessons in the art of swimming.

Mrs. Crouch explained for her. It seemed that Letty had quarreled with her mother and said she was going to do away with herself. It had been a serious quarrel, concerning the attentions of a married man. The married man's wife had started it. She threatened to take Letty into the courts.

Presently Mrs. Price chimed in, flinging a few reproaches at Andrew. Everybody, herself included, had thought he was "walking out" with Letty. The whole thing came from his own cold heartedness. And now, perhaps Letty was dead.

That evening was full of trouble for Andrew. He had just come from West Court, and one must draw a merciful veil over the details of what happened to him there. Now he was confronted by the sufferings of Betty Price's mother.

"Do you think I ought to go to the police? Price is no good at all. He went to bed directly after supper, and nothing will move him. George has gone out somewhere, and the other children are too young to do anything."

Mrs. Crouch nudged Andrew's arm as a hint.

"Andrew, you might try to find Letty. Perhaps she's out on the sea wall all by herself. Poor Mrs. Price; can't you see how terrible it is for her?"

"I'm awfully sorry. Of course, I'll go," Andrew replied. He took up his cap and the task unwillingly. It did not seem to him that Letty was the sort of girl who would do anything so desperate as her mother feared. Nevertheless, it must be worrying for Mrs. Price.

He went out on the sea wall and traversed the whole half mile of it. He did not expect to find her there, but there was a convenient short cut to Tintynow, Rockport's lively outpost.

All the time neither his mind nor his heart were fixed on this errand. He suffered again the humiliations of Martin Drake's scathing remarks, trembled for the unhappiness poor Crystal must be enduring on his account, worried until he was driven crazy over the outcome.

Then, of course, there was Ted. Without realizing quite what it meant, he had given Ted away. He had defended Crystal against unpleasant insinuations regarding himself, by stating that Ted had always been with them, or close by, when Crystal and he met. He wished, now, that he had punched Martin Drake's red face instead of replying verbally. Only it wouldn't have been sporting.

As he walked on towards the bright lights of Tintynow, little did he realize what was immediately in store for him. Had he done so, he might have been tempted to turn back and leave the fate of Letty Price in that young woman's own capable hands.

Tonight he felt supremely disgusted with himself that ever he had sought distraction in this sordid spot. It had been a soiling effect which even the nearness of the sea could not wipe out.

Tintynow was well named. It boasted not more than a dozen weather beaten frame buildings and a flimsy pier with a few bath and boat houses. One of the structures housed a cinema and dance hall combined. There was also a eating house of sorts, a rifle range, an amusement hall, and other attractions. A gipsy caravan was encamped on the outskirts, where fortunes were told and money passed hands in various other ways. Strings of red, white, and blue lights joined the buildings and gave an air of brightness to a scene that was otherwise undistinguished by any particular novelty. Every locality has its Tintynow.

As usual the dance hall was crowded, a gramophone supplying the necessary melody.

Coming from the fresh out-of-doors Andrew felt as if somebody had suddenly clamped a lid on his chest and screwed it down. The heat, tobacco smoke, and fumes of alcoholic drinks combined to render the atmosphere nearly indescribable.

Letty here? Of course she was, her lips smeared with paint, her face chalky with powder, the Spanish comb and hoop earrings working hard to foster the illusion of something foreign or theatrical. She was wearing the bare backed dress which her mother had condemned to the waste basket, and the only man in the whole plant between whom and Andrew there had ever been bad blood, Rugg had once held the boxing championship, that was now Andrew's. The contest by which it changed hands was still memorable.

Rugg was a great big bully. He had reduced his wife to a state of terrorism so that it was a wonder she had found the courage to complain of him, and scarcely a week went by that he did not seek a quarrel with some unfortunate fellow workman, who was bound to get the worst of it, yet hardly dared to seek revenge for fear of a more dreadful fate next time. He was kept on at Westhaven for the simple reason that he could and did get through two men's work in half the time of one, and was a past master at his job.

He stood an inch taller than Andrew and was quite three inches broader. His hair was a black mane and his eyes, small and beady for his huge face, were bunched closely together between a low slanting forehead and a broken nose. Truly no beauty, but for all of that his reputation amongst the fair sex was terrific. What he saw he captured. His wife, when he first met her, had been one of Rockport's prettiest girls.

Letty Price in her daring get-up looked a fair match for Alf Rugg.

He hugged her shamelessly in the mazes of what passed for a tango. They both danced well, inventing weird and extravagant steps which drew forth considerable admiration. There was no sign on Letty's face of the anguish of intending suicide.

Andrew thought of her mother plunging worry into a bottle of stout; the poor coarse mother, who, whatever her personal feelings, had Letty's welfare at heart. Letty making herself conspicuous in the company of Alf Rugg carried with it the penalty of a social stigma not lightly to be lived down.

RICKARD FIGHT FILM SHOWN BY ETTELSON'S O.K.

Interprets Law in Favor of the Promoter.

Corporation Counsel Ettelson provided the key which unlocked Chicago to Tex Rickard and his films of the Dempsey-Carpenter fight, it was learned yesterday.

Mr. Ettelson's opinion, which informed Chief Fitzmorris that he had no right to continue longer his refusal to give Rickard a permit for exhibiting the pictures, follows closely legal advice given Rickard several weeks ago by the law firm of Schuyler & Weinfeld, of which Mr. Ettelson formerly was a member.

Peripatetic Reasoning.

Mr. Ettelson adopted an interesting line of legal reasoning to circumvent the language of the city ordinance governing the showing of films. Section 1627 of the city code says no permits shall be issued for pictures which are "immoral or obscene, or which portray riotous, disorderly, or other unlawful scenes." It seems that prize fighting is unlawful in Illinois.

In getting around this, Rickard's principal difficulty, Mr. Ettelson held that a goodly part of section 1627 is "unconstitutional and void." His opinion says that the statute on the subject simply prohibits "obscene or immoral publications, prints, or illustrations."

Says Council Overstepped.

The city council, Mr. Ettelson says, had no right to go outside the statute in legislation, and that any ordinance in excess of powers granted by the statute "would be unconstitutional and void."

After thus limiting the ordinance to the purview of the city ordinance, Mr. Ettelson considers whether the pictures in question are "obscene or immoral."

"No one, we take it," his opinion says, "will contend that they (the fight pictures) are 'obscene.' Are they otherwise immoral?"

"The term 'immoral,'" the Ettelson ruling continues, "as used in the above statute must be understood in its ordinary, popular sense."

"No 'ordinary intelligent person,' the opinion says, a few lines further on, would classify prize fighting as immoral."

Gives Definition of "Immoral."

"Not all acts forbidden by law are immoral," says another paragraph. "To be immoral is an act which offends against some universally (or practically) universally recognized moral law."

Therefore, Mr. Ettelson concludes, exhibition of the fight pictures would not be in violation of the city ordinance prohibiting the showing of an unlawful act on the screen.

In his appeal to Chief Fitzmorris for a permit Rickard said that the "overwhelming majority of the best citizens of this city desire the exhibition of the pictures." This letter was signed "G. L. Rickard, by Albert Pink, attorney." When Chief Fitzmorris refused the permit Attorney Pink requested that the matter be referred to Mr. Ettelson.

JOHN W. GATES PURPLE PAJAMAS GO FOR A SONG

Royal raiment sold for a song yesterday by the late John W. Gates, 4121 Oakwood avenue, at St. Charles, Ill., held to raise funds to buy a school dental chair. The purple pajamas, robes, coats, suits, and other sartorial effects of the late John W. Gates amounted to a woefully small percentage of their cost.

A Paris made golf suit brought $8 and $2 bought the most brilliant of pajamas.

Women shoppers more interested in wearing quippers than in the fit, declared they could "rip 'em up and make kimonos."

Policeman Suspended for Activities on Furlough

Charged with "beating up" citizens unwilling to join the Kenwood Property Owners' association, Robert L. Gastineau, 4512 Oakwood avenue, a policeman, who obtained a year's furlough to attend to business matters of the association, was suspended from the police department yesterday. He is said to have property worth $30,000.

FARM AND GARDEN

RESORT TO OLD METHOD IN PRESERVING VEGETABLES.

Old fashioned fermenting and salting methods of preserving vegetables are coming back into use as a means of cutting down living expenses, and many apartment dwellers are resorting to old time methods of preserving cabbage, beans, green beans, and similar vegetables.

Preserving vegetables costs very little more than storing them in their natural state, because cheap containers can be used, such as old kegs, barrels, or tubs used for packing butter and lard.

With small expense enough vegetables can be bought and stored to last the ordinary sized family all winter. Few persons realize the many different kinds of vegetables that may be preserved. String beans, cabbage in the form of sauerkraut, beet tops, and turnip tops are easily preserved by using the dry salt method.

Many prefer the brine method because it lends itself to a wider use. Cucumbers, string beans, green tomatoes, corn in the roasting ear stage, green peas, beets, beet tops, and turnip tops may all be preserved by fermenting in brine. Many of these vegetables are still available for preserving even this late in the season.

The dry salt and brine methods not only are inexpensive, but little work is required in preparing and preserving the vegetables.

Miss Mari Smith to Make Her Debut at Dance Dec. 29

Plans for Miss Mari Smith's debut have been changed, instead of being introduced at a reception on Friday, Nov. 18, at the Casino, she will be presented at a dance to be given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Solomon A. Smith, of 843 North Michigan avenue, and her grandmother, Mrs. Byron Laflin Smith, of 2140 Prairie avenue, on Thursday evening, Dec. 29, at the latter's residence.

Mrs. John Donald Black of 223 East Delaware place will give a dance for her debutante daughter, Miss Lydia Beckwith, Wednesday evening, Nov. 19, at the Saddle and Cycle club, instead of Friday evening, Nov. 18, as previously planned.

The Misses Josephine and Geraldine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dean Faxon of Highland Park, will make their debuts at a dance to be given by their parents at the Highland Park club on Wednesday evening, Dec. 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh G. McBriney will give a dinner this evening for Glyn Philpot and Vivian Forbes, the two English painters, who are guests in the city. Thirty guests will be present for the dinner, which will be at the Drake, instead of at the Casino, as planned.

Mrs. Thomas R. Lyon will open her residence at 1415 Astor street this morning for the first meeting of the season of the Thursday Fairbank Musical class, of which Mrs. Nathalie Siebth Kennedy is the reader. Among the charter members of the class are Mrs. Frank R. Chandler, Mrs. Moses J. Wentworth, Mrs. Thomas W. Hinde, Mrs. Franklin A. Luce, Mrs. Henry H. Porter, Mrs. John W. Gary, Mrs. Luther W. Bodman, and Mrs. Charles C. Adair.

The first of a series of six morning musicals will be given today at 11 o'clock in the ballroom of the Drake. Among the boxholders are Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, Mrs. John J. Mitchell Jr., Mrs. Frank Wetmore, Mrs. Charles A. Chapin, Mrs. Watson F. Blair, Mrs. C. Bal Lihme, Mrs. Maurice Rothchild, Mrs. Charles Wrigley, Mrs. William A. Yager, Mrs. Joseph B. Long, Mrs. Augustus S. Peabody, Mrs. William J. Chalmers, Mrs. William J. Chalmers, Mrs. Harold F. McCormick, and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Edward Kent Miller at the Drake. None will be sold at the door.

The first of four lectures on "Current Affairs and Literary Reviews" by Mrs. Anthony French Merrill at the Woman's Athletic club will be given this morning at 11 o'clock. A special luncheon will follow.

Mrs. John Jay Borkland of 2616 Prairie avenue, has returned from New York, where she spent the early autumn after closing her summer place at Camden, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph Gallery of 79 East Elm street will give a dinner party this evening for their daughter, Miss Marian Gallery, and William Gallery, who will be married at the Catholic church on Saturday at Holy Name cathedral. Miss Marie Blome gave a dinner for Miss Gallery last night at the Opera club.

The Alliance Française will give a reception Saturday afternoon from 3 to 4:30 o'clock for M. Maurice Dumesnil, pianist, and the presidents of the French Clubs in Chicago. Mr. Antoine Barthelemy, French consul, will speak at 3:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Walker, who spent the summer in Lake Forest with Mr. Walker's father, Dr. Samuel J. Walker, have taken an apartment at 235 East Superior street.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reynolds have moved their house in Glenwood and are at the Webster hotel for the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Ford Rodman Carter have returned from Lake Forest and will spend the winter at the Ambassador.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Barnes will arrive on Nov. 23 from Vevey, Switzerland, for a visit with her son, Nelson L. Barnes, and Mrs. Barnes at 78 East Elm street.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Hinde and the Misses Sarah and Elizabeth Hinde of 1524 Astor street have returned from a stay of several months abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Hinde of 1524 Astor street have returned from a stay of several months abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brice Pattou have returned from a brief stay in New York, and have taken an apartment at 156 East Superior street.

Miss Florence Bradley of 3223 Hyde Park boulevard has gone east to attend the Yale-Princeton and Yale-Harvard football games.

Boys to Present Play.

The Union League boys' foundation will present "As You Like It" this evening at the Union League club under the auspices of the Drama League. Miss Bertha Iles has been coaching the boys for some months in their parts and Miss Mary Taft has directed the making of the costumes by the mothers of the young actors.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: A Wild West Customer

BRIDE

THE MARRIAGE OF MISS WINIFRED REINBOOTH

THE marriage of Miss Winifred Reinbooth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Reinbooth of Wilmette, to Harold L. Garwood, took place on Nov. 5 at the residence of the bride's parents. After a wedding journey in the east, Mr. and Mrs. Garwood will reside with her parents.

WEDDINGS

The marriage of Miss Olive Graves Kipling, daughter of Mr. Berkeley Ward Kipling of San Antonio, Tex., and Dalton Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Burns of Chicago, will take place this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at St. Patrick's cathedral, New York. The ceremony will be attended only by members of the immediate families. Miss Mildred Petting of St. Louis, will be maid of honor and Miss Aline Houston of San Antonio, and Miss Dorothy Burns, sister of the bridegroom, will be bridesmaid. Herbert Hirsch of London will act as best man, and ushering will be Richard Maegher of Chicago and Edward Robbins of Greensburg, Pa.

Parties for Wounded Men.

Almost 100 ex-service men, who are convalescing in Chicago hospitals, will be guests at a movie party this afternoon at the residence of Mr. Frederick D. Countess, 1524 Lake Shore drive. The film "Over the Hill" has been lent to the Chicago Red Cross for the entertainment of wounded men, and Red Cross workers will provide transportation. Among those who will assist Mrs. Countess are Mrs. John D. Black, Mrs. Philip Wrigley, Mrs. J. Murray Page, and Miss Florence Spofford.

Prairie Club Hike.

The Prairie club walk of Saturday will be through the beautiful preserve district about Orland. Length of walk, four and six miles. The club will leave the Dearborn station annex at 1:30 p. m. Expense, 80 cents.

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

clothes is defined immediately by the host of Scotch plaids, capes and coats with hats to match which have lately appeared on 5th avenue for the benefit of the small girl. Then there is the combination costume of black velvet jacket and skirt of either Scotch plaid or more dashing check which so many mothers like for the girl of from 6 to 12.

Above we are showing for the benefit of the lot of 2 to 6 a delightful little brown duvety coat trimmed with beaver and fastening at the side. With it is worn an adorable bonnet of geranium red ribbon stitched together and tied with a black ribbon.

And, by the way, some of the imported hats for children featuring the use of kid are delightful. Some of these, mushroom in shape, have a great charm of leather and their sole trimming. Even more unusual are the sautee little shapes with a long fringed tassel of leather swaying at the side.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. Makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhance its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't say gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking the brush strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two its natural color is restored, and the old-time recipe, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Theater Guild of North Shore Opens Its Season Tonight

THE North Shore Theater Guild will open its first season tonight with a presentation of Edna Ferber's "A Woman of the Year." The play will be repeated tomorrow night at the same club and will be given Saturday evening at the Kenilworth club. Next Friday night it will be repeated at the Winter club in Lake Forest.

The guild has been organized by a group of north shore residents who have been prominently identified with amateur theatricals for a number of years, and who have joined interests to produce good plays in as nearly professional manner as possible. Every one connected with the organization is donating his services.

The guild will give a reception Sunday afternoon from 2:30 to 5:30 o'clock at the Winnetka Woman's club for Miss Ferber, Mrs. A. Starr Best, and Frank Bacon. Applications for membership in the guild, together with remittance of $5, should be mailed to the treasurer, Emory Cobb Andrews, 785 Willow road, Winnetka.

The officials of the guild are: Directors—Charles T. Atkinson and Mrs. Arthur T. Aldis of Lake Forest, Stuart Bailey, Mrs. Laird Bell, Mrs. Dudley Cates, Mrs. Frederick Dickinson, and Mrs. James F. Porter, all of Winnetka; Ralph Dennis of Evanston, and Percy B. Eckert of Kenilworth. J. William Bailey is director of publicity. Mr. Bailey is technical director of productions; R. Fayerweather Babcock is scenic and art director, and Mrs. Ralph Keilman and Mrs. Cates are play readers. Local writers may submit their manuscripts either to Mrs. Helman, 712 Clinton place, Evanston, or to Mrs. Cates, 620 Ash street, Winnetka.

MISS EDNA FERBER.

Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking the brush strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two its natural color is restored, and the old-time recipe, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Among those who will assist Mrs. Countess are Mrs. John D. Black, Mrs. Philip Wrigley, Mrs. J. Murray Page, and Miss Florence Spofford.

Prairie Club Hike.

The Prairie club walk of Saturday will be through the beautiful preserve district about Orland. Length of walk, four and six miles. The club will leave the Dearborn station annex at 1:30 p. m. Expense, 80 cents.

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

clothes is defined immediately by the host of Scotch plaids, capes and coats with hats to match which have lately appeared on 5th avenue for the benefit of the small girl. Then there is the combination costume of black velvet jacket and skirt of either Scotch plaid or more dashing check which so many mothers like for the girl of from 6 to 12.

Above we are showing for the benefit of the lot of 2 to 6 a delightful little brown duvety coat trimmed with beaver and fastening at the side. With it is worn an adorable bonnet of geranium red ribbon stitched together and tied with a black ribbon.

And, by the way, some of the imported hats for children featuring the use of kid are delightful. Some of these, mushroom in shape, have a great charm of leather and their sole trimming. Even more unusual are the sautee little shapes with a long fringed tassel of leather swaying at the side.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. Makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhance its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't say gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. ### Raphael Tapestry Is Brought to U. S.

by Margaret Anglin

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

ONE of the few cartoons by Raphael has been brought recently to this country in the shape of a beautiful tapestry owned by Margaret Anglin. The tapestry was discovered in an Italian villa where the master, Count Angelo Bonelli, lived alone, his two sons having been killed in the war.

The drawing is one of several cartoons, designed by Raphael a few years before his death, which were reproduced in tapestry by the foremost Flemish and French tapestry makers of the period.

Several of these cartoons may be seen in the South Kensington museum in London, but the one which is the average individual collector is a rarity. Probably Miss Anglin is the only American amateur art collector who boasts one today.

The tapestry represents an ovation to Diana, who sits enthroned with one of her husbands beside her. On an altar incense is being burned and a group of priestesses are pressing close, listening to one of their hand who appeals to the goddess for help.

U. S. SHOWS CORN CROP 81,000,000 BU. UNDER 1920

A corn crop of 81,000,000 bushels was given by the government's department of agriculture in its November report issued yesterday. It suggests a yield per acre of 28.9 bu., compared with 30.9 bu. last year and a ten year average of 26.4 bu. Quality is 4.9 per cent above the average. The crop is 10,000,000 bu. less than indicated in the October returns and $1,000,000 bu. under the harvest of last year, being the second largest crop on record.

With the returns on corn in, there is an aggregate of 5,158,000,000 bu. of the grain for the season, a shortage of 1,000,000 bu. from last year and of 141,000,000 bu. from the five year average. No report was made on wheat, oats, rye, or barley this month, as the preliminary estimates were given in October. There will be no more reports on grains until the final returns in December.

Corn Crop in Surplus States.
The feature of the corn crop is that the seven leading states have 1,554,000,000 bu., or 19,000,000 bu. less than last month and 12,000,000 bu. short of last year, while the total crop for the country shows a reduction of $1,000,000 bu. Losses last month were 4,500,000 bu. in Illinois, 4,000,000 bu. in Missouri, 8,000,000 bu. in Nebraska, and 9,000,000 bu. in Kansas, while Iowa improved 9,000,000 bu. and Indiana 5,000,000 bu. over 1920.

Minnesota and South Dakota have a record crop, 248,000,000 bu., or 24,000,000 bu. more than last year. Texas has 192,000,000 bu., or 18,000,000 bu. above last year, and Oklahoma $4,500,000 bu., a loss of 4,000,000 bu. from last year. Kentucky's crop of 56,000,000 bu. is short 15,000,000 bu. from last year, while Pennsylvania, with almost 75,000,000 bu., gained 5,000,000 bu. over 1920.

Farm Reserves of Old Crop.
Farm reserves of old corn held on Nov. 1 were 231,000,000 bu., or 8.7 per cent of the 1920 crop, and are the largest on record, comparing with 129,900,000 bu. revised, or 4.9 per cent, last year, and a five year average of 80,576,000 bu. No details as to reserves in individual states is given.

A potato crop shows 356,000,000 bu., or 20,000,000 bu. more than indicated last month and a shortage of 72,000,000 bu. as compared with last year, as given by the latest returns, based on the yield per acre. It is only 15,000,000 bu. below the five year average. The yield per acre of 35.6 bu. is seven bushels under last year. Maine and New York, which raises more potatoes than any other states combined, have 5,000,000 bu. more than last year, while there is a shortage of 5,000,000 bu. in Michigan, nearly 12,000,000 bu. in Wisconsin, and 5,276,000 bu. in Minnesota. Colorado has almost the same sized crop as last year.

The weight of all grains per measured bushel this year is lighter than last year, and in oats, 23.3 lbs., or six pounds below last year's, is the lightest in thirty years.
